C.P.R. SOON TO ADD 1,200 MILES TO ITS LINES SECOND CEMENT PLANT HERE TO BE PUT INTO OPERATION

Tod Inlet Works Opening For First Time In Ten Years

Prospect of Increasing Development Causes B.C. Cement Company to Prepare to Greatly Enlarge Production Here; Price Out of 20 Cents a Barrel Is Announced; Another Unit Added to Fleet

Because of the growing development of the Province, preparations were under way to-day by the B.C. Cement Company Limited to reopen its second plant at Tod Inlet.

This plant is the unit adjoining Mr. Butchart's Gardens, and has been idle for the last ten years, while cement production operations were concentrated at the new Bamerton plant, on the Malahat side of Saanich Inlet.

Announcement of the doubling up of capacity at the cement works was made by Edwin Tomlin, managing director of the company.

GETTING READY
"The prospect of steadily increasing development in British Columbia in the next few years has prompted the B.C. Cement Company to put the Tod Inlet plant in readiness to take care of the business when it comes," Mr. Tomlin said in his announcement.

"We are not yet quite up to capacity at the Bamerton plant, which is 3,000 barrels a day. The capacity at the Tod Inlet plant is 2,000 barrels a day. The joint capacity of both plants is 5,000 barrels a day. The company has been running about 600,000 barrels a year. Preparations to open the Tod Inlet plant are taken as a precautionary measure."

INCREASE FLEET
In connection with the increase in the production of the cement plants the company to-day completed purchase of a new boat, the Columbia, which will bring the local cement fleet up to three vessels.

Further to stimulate the rise of cement in the Province, the B.C. Cement Company has this month reduced the price of cement by twenty cents a barrel.

CREWS AT WORK
Crews are now being at work pumping out the old cement holes and reconditioning the machinery in the older plant.

This Tod Inlet plant, which the furnaces will soon be belching and the grinders roaring, has considerable sentimental interest attached to it for Victorians, as it was the original Butchart cement plant and the basis of the great cement industry that has grown up here just outside the city.

It was this original Tod Inlet plant also that was responsible for the quarrying which has since, through the skill of Mrs. Butchart, been developed into the world famous Butchart Gardens.

The operation of the cement plants is of great economic value to this city as it forms one of the major industries on the southern end of Vancouver Island.

Man Confesses Murder and Ends His Life

Calgary, Jan. 10.—Malcolm McLean, forty-two, gunman, safeblower and holdup man, who hanged himself from the rafters of a cell at city police headquarters here early in the morning of January 3, confessed to a fellow prisoner two hours before he hanged himself that he was the man who killed Franklin Bourne, alias Frank Stewart, local taxi driver, formerly of Vancouver, who was shot to death in his taxicab two months ago. Chief of Police David Ritchie announced to-day.

DAY OF INDIVIDUAL FARMER IS PASSING, DECLARES FORD

New York, Jan. 10.—A world in which to one smokes or discusses prohibition, where farmers no longer farm and housekeepers no longer cook, and where machines take care of the drudgery is outlined by Henry Ford in his book, "My Philosophy of Industry," just published here.

"The great problem in the home to-day," the Detroit capitalist points out, "is too much drudgery. We shall soon find a way to do much of the cooking outside and deliver it in a hot and appetizing condition at meal time at no greater cost."

New Plant To Be Operating In June Next

Contract For New B.C.E.R. Building to Be Placed By January 20
Cost, Including Electrical Equipment, Will Total $250,000

"We intend to invite tenders immediately and expect to have the contract placed and work started by January 20 next," said G. M. Tripp, general superintendent of the B.C. Electric Railway Company, to-day in announcing the company's decision to proceed with the construction of the $250,000 power distributing plant at the intersection of Bay and Government streets.

"We expect to have the building completely equipped for the distribution of power by June."

Plans are now being completed for the building which will be of particularly handsome design in reinforced concrete.

In view of its central location the company is planning to give the building a pleasing exterior, stated Mr. Tripp.

Fronting for the greater part of its length on Bay Street, the building will be 200 feet long for 40 feet wide, and will be of the high one-story type, and will be a high gallery running around the interior of the structure.

All the electrical machinery which will be installed in the new building is on order from plants in Hamilton and Peterboro, Ont., and will shortly be delivered here, Mr. Tripp stated.

The building and equipment will involve an expenditure of $250,000, making it the largest construction undertaking to be commenced in the city this year.

The excavation work on the site has been completed, having been carried out by company workmen. The huge transformers and other equipment which will be used in connection with the distribution of power from the new plant have been in position for some time. The foundations and steel work incident to this phase of the contract was carried out by Parfitt Bros. Limited, in conjunction with B.C.E.R. engineers.

Campbell Sweeney Estate Is Divided

Vancouver, Jan. 10.—Disposing of a gross estate of $97,863, which is subject to liabilities of $9,538, the will of Campbell Sweeney, former superintendent of the Bank of Montreal in British Columbia, who died here December 1, has been filed in the Supreme Court for probate. He bequeathed gold and silver plate and pictures to his sons, Sedley Campbell Sweeney and Fleming C. Sweeney of Vancouver, and jewelry to his daughter Dorothea of Vancouver. They also share equally the furniture and personal effects.

The daughter will receive a life interest in $50,000, which fund will be shared among the daughter and her two brothers.

The residue of the estate is divided equally between the two sons.

The old farm is likewise due for a big change, according to Mr. Ford. "Farming needs to be completely revolutionized," he said. "Large corporations, whose sole business it will be to perform the operations of ploughing, planting, cultivating and harvesting, will supersede the individual farmer, or group of farmers who combine to perform their work in a wholesale manner. This is the proper way to do it, and the only one in which economic freedom can be won."

PREDICTS GREAT EXPORT INCREASE

SIR HERBERT HOLT

Montreal, Jan. 10.—Announcing his belief that the Old World stands on the verge of a period of prosperity similar to that which is now being experienced in North America, Sir Herbert S. Holt, in the course of his presidential address to the shareholders of the Royal Bank of Canada, to-day said Canada's international trade would soon rise to new and unprecedented levels.

"We intend to invite tenders immediately and expect to have the contract placed and work started by January 20 next," said G. M. Tripp, general superintendent of the B.C. Electric Railway Company, to-day in announcing the company's decision to proceed with the construction of the $250,000 power distributing plant at the intersection of Bay and Government streets.

"We expect to have the building completely equipped for the distribution of power by June."

COURT DEBATES SPEED OF CARS

What Constitutes Reasonable Rate Considered in Damage Appeal

The Court of Appeal, in a judgment handed down yesterday, reversed the decision of Judge Barker in the Nanaimo County Court awarding damages and costs of $34,110 to W. A. B. Paul, poultryman of Comox and Mrs. Paul from Sidney, farmer of Wellington, following an automobile collision on the Island Highway north of Nanaimo.

The County Court judge ruled that the thirty-five miles an hour respondent was alleged to be traveling was a reasonable rate of speed under the circumstances.

Frank B. Cunliffe appeared for plaintiff respondent, and Victor B. Harrison for defendant appellant.

NEW LIQUOR MOVE IN ROYAL CITY

New Westminster, Jan. 10.—The provincial police have made a new move in regard to the liquor situation here, concerning which Attorney-General Pooley issued an ultimatum recently.

Charged with being proprietors or occupants of premises in which illegal sale of liquor has taken place, summonses have been issued against five men.

U. S. Dirigible Now In Florida

Port St. Joseph, Fla., Jan. 10.—Completing a voyage from Lakehurst, N.J., during which it was delayed nearly twelve hours by adverse winds and fog over Western Florida, the United States naval dirigible Los Angeles was moored to the tender Patoka in St. Joseph's Bay at 12:45 p.m. to-day.

Complete reconstruction of the main floor of the three-story Bank of Commerce Building at Fort and Government Streets was announced to-day by P. B. Fowler, Victoria manager. The work will cost upwards of $60,000, and is starting immediately.

The reconstruction will provide the Bank of Commerce with its main Victoria office with the largest banking office in British Columbia, with the exception of one or two of the larger main offices in Vancouver.

The exterior of the historic building will not be interfered with, Mr. Fowler said, as the structure through being the original home of the old Bank of British Columbia has come to have historical associations that could be replaced in no modern structure.

ONE NEW ENTRANCE
The present main entrance at the corner will be preserved, but a new entrance to the upper floors will be constructed.

All walls and other divisions on the main floor will be removed to give one uninterrupted expanse of office space, except for the massive marble columns that are to be introduced. The banking counters and tellers' cages will be ranged around the sides of the office space, with a well in the center to form the customers' space.

NEW VAULTS
New vaults are already under construction in Toronto, and besides these the bank will add large safety deposit vaults which will be the most modern in Canada. Special metal wrought doors have been designed, and are now being constructed in the East to fence off the safety deposit department.

Growth of business in Victoria warrants these extensive improvements to our property," said Mr. Fowler. The district around Fort and Government Streets is more and more becoming the financial centre of Victoria. The new

Patricia Hotel, Operated as Beer Parlor, Practically Destroyed

Nanaimo, Jan. 10.—The Patricia Hotel on Halliburton Street here, named during the early days the Dewdrop Inn, one of the oldest remaining landmarks of the city, was practically destroyed by fire at an early hour this morning.

Flames were discovered in Jenson's plumbing shop, adjoining the main building.

When the brigade arrived the fire had spread to the interior of the hotel. After an hour's work the fire brigade and volunteers subdued the flames.

The Patricia was operated as a beer parlor by J. Sandland.

In addition to the hotel loss, the Jenson shop and shoemaker's place adjoining were badly damaged.

The cause of the fire, which started shortly after 2 a.m., has not been determined.

High Council of Salvation Army Resolves He Is to Retain Title

Sunbury-on-Thames, Eng., Jan. 10.—The High Council of the Salvation Army to-day adopted a resolution asking General Bramwell Booth, leader of the Army for sixteen years, to retire from that post because of the condition of his health.

At the same time it was made clear that in retirement he would retain his title of general and continue to enjoy the honor and dignities attached to it.

STATEMENT ISSUED
The resolution was made public in a communique issued from Sunbury Court this morning. It was adopted after the Council had considered a letter dated January 6, which had been received from the head of the Army. The text of this letter was not given out, but it is understood that in it the general asked the High Council to appoint a commission to act for him until his recovery. The council's reply was a rejection of this proposal, saying it was impossible that at his age he should recover sufficiently to resume

Municipal Requests to Be Stated

B.C. Union Chiefs To-morrow Will Make Legislation Suggestions to Cabinet

Vancouver, Jan. 10.—Headed by Alderman H. E. Bridgman, of North Vancouver, president; Mayor T. A. Love, of Grand Forks, vice-president, and Mayor A. Well Gray, of New Westminster, secretary, the executive of the Union of British Columbia Municipalities will go to Victoria to-morrow to lay before the members of the Government the proposals for legislation agreed upon at the Union's convention in Trail last September.

Demand for a public utilities commission, to arbitrate rates chargeable by the B.C. Electric Railway Company, the West Kootenay Power Company and similar public service concerns and for a revision of the municipal taxation powers so as to relieve property owners from the heavy burden of school costs are the two chief proposals to be made by the executive.

Neither is a new request. Both deal with problems that have become more and more acute in recent years. The Union avoided defining the type of public utilities commission desired, but a comprehensive statement of the convention by Alderman J. B. Clearhue, of Victoria.

PROBLEM OF FINANCES
The school taxation problem is one on which the Union has been pressing for relief for several years. The School Survey Commission was appointed as a result of the Union's representations.

CONFERENCE AT OTTAWA ENDS

Report on Canadian U.S. Anti-smuggling Discussion Now Awaited

Ottawa, Jan. 10.—The conference in which delegations representing the United States and Canada took part to ascertain what could be done to prevent liquor smuggling from this country into the United States, completed its sessions shortly after 1 o'clock this afternoon.

A request by the United States delegates that crumblers should be withheld from ships conveying to either the United States or Canada commodities, the import of which is illegal in the country of destination, was a chief point of discussion.

This is aimed chiefly at the exportation of liquor from Canada to the United States and was taken as a plea on the part of the United States that Canada should not allow liquor-laden ships to leave her ports for any port in the United States.

AUTO INSURANCE RATES IN CANADA TO BE INCREASED

Toronto, Jan. 10.—Automobile insurance rates throughout Canada are to be increased sharply—as much as fifty per cent for legal liability and as much as twenty-five per cent for collision—according to an announcement made here. The increases will be graded to differentiate between urban and rural areas.

It was stated after a meeting of the Canadian Automobile Insurance Writers' Association here yesterday that the rates upon which the increases would be put into effect were that business under present conditions was unprofitable and that Canadian rates were lower than those prevailing in the United States.

It was announced that after a survey of the present rates at the meeting it had been decided that "adjustments were imperative."

Winnipeg, Jan. 10.—An era of expansion involving construction of approxi- mately 1,200 miles of track in virgin country in West- ern Canada at a cost of not less than $50,000,000, is foreshadowed by an appli- cation of the Canadian Pa- cific Railway Company for permission to build new lines. This will mean em- ployment of many thou- sands of men extending over a period of five years, it is understood.

Some details of this programme have already been announced, such as the proposed branch line from Saskatoon to Melfort, Sask., which has involved some discussion between the Canadian Pacific and the Canadian National Railways, which also desired to build in that area and between these two points.

The most important of the proposed Canadian Pacific branch lines affect the far-northern section of Saskatchewan.

Details are lacking, but it is reported, roughly, to build a line from Nipawin, right to the Island Falls, across the Churchill River and farther north to Reindeer Lake. It is also possible that the C.P.R. will seek rights to branch off at Island Falls and cut through the mining area of Flin Flon and Sherritt-Gordon and tap the Hudson Bay Railway at a point well toward Churchill.

At present the company has a charter to build a line from Nipawin westward to Prince Albert and this work is to be undertaken very soon.

TO LAC LA RONGE
A new branch line charter, it is said, will be sought giving the right to build a line from Prince Albert straight north for some hundreds of miles, possibly as far as Lac la Ronge, which is in a great mineral field.

Another branch line would begin at Prince Albert and proceed in a north-westerly direction straight across the province and on into Alberta.

TWO ROBBERS IN SEATTLE KILLED

Seattle, Jan. 20.—Two bandits slain yesterday in an attempt to holdup the loan office of Barto & Company here were identified as James E. Fare, twenty-four, member of the crew of a city fire boat, and Robert Byrne, alias Burns, ex-convict. Thomas Barto, manager of the loan company, was wounded by the same bullet that passed through and killed Byrne. James Dodson, cashier of the company, was slugged by Byrne, but managed to shoot him fatally.

Fare, the fireman bandit, had been in debt to Barto & Company and was believed by police to have joined with Byrne, a professional gunman, in the holdup, possibly for revenge.

The heroines of the holdup were Mrs. Martha O. Cannon and Mrs. Robert Lee Binson, whose work at the bank was interrupted by the entrance of the bandits and who ran to spread the alarm which brought more than 100 police to the scene.

Miss Lillian McClain, a bookkeeper, who walked through whistling bullets, said:

"I was sitting at my desk in the corner when the robbers came in. I just sat there while one of them climbed over the wicket. While the shooting was at its height I ran out of the office and down the hall, where the policemen also were shooting. I don't know how I escaped being hit."

Fare was shot to death by two policemen who had cut off his escape.

Give freely

When your Children Cry for It

Mothers who take one simple precaution, are seldom worried. With a bottle of Fletcher's Castoria in the house they can do what their doctor could tell them to do when baby is fretful, feverish, colicky, constipated or stuffed-up with cold—give a few drops of this pure vegetable, pleasant-tasting preparation. It comforts, baby and soothes him to sleep in a jiffy. It's perfectly safe for the youngest infant. Use it freely—and as often as needed, specially advised. A more liberal dose is all it takes to comfort and relieve older children, when feverishness, bad breath, no appetite, colds, croup, show they need a good purgative. The mark of genuine Castoria is the Fletcher signature on the wrapper. Look for it to avoid imitations.

Technical School Plan Is Only Solution Say City School Trustees

New High School Would Cost $300,000; and Exclusion of Saanich Pupils Would Mean $12,000 Loss Yearly; Principal Ira Dilworth and George H. Deane Give Facts and Figures for Serious Overcrowding

Faced with the problem of providing accommodation for a minimum of 280 surplus students in the Victoria High School in September of this year, for whom no effective accommodation can possibly be found, the City School Board pocketed its pride last night and decided to appeal once again to the ratepayers of the city, with an unglorified statement of the facts forcing an immediate building programme on the one hand, or unwarranted interference with the education of close on 300 growing children on the other.

Equivoction, wounded feelings and everything other than a frank realization of the real dilemma was "cast aside" by the trustees last night, as one by one they voiced their support for a third appeal to the ratepayers on what they said was the best and cheapest means of providing adequate school accommodation to care for the known needs of the next school year.

CROWDED OUT

Here are the problems which the trustees say are facing the city at this time: Five divisions in the existing High School—175 students—being taught in corridors, science laboratories, behind wash-basin basement partitions, and in a lower school building four hundred yards away from the main building with no proper accommodation for them in classrooms, and with a basement-to-attic existence for their teachers.

The High School, built for 1,000 students, is asked to house 1,345 at the present date, and will have to care for 108 new students, or three new divisions entirely, at September next, making eight divisions, or 280 pupils, without classrooms sufficient for their needs at that date, and forty-three divisions in all.

EJECTION NO REMEDY

If the city ignores its moral obligations to continue tuition to Saanich and outside students now enrolled in High School courses, the enrolment can be brought down to 1,050 students, but no provision would be made by that plan for the influx of additional students from the city's own schools in the Fall of this year. By excluding Saanich students the city would lose between $10,000 and $12,000 in cash yearly, or more than sufficient to pay all the carrying charges on the proposed technical school institution.

A new High School large enough to care for all students now in sight would cost $300,000, and would be too large an institution to be properly serviced. A temporary High School annex would relieve congestion in a temporary way for a few months, and merely postpone the date of ultimate and final settlement at wasted cost.

TO PUT BY-LAW AGAIN

For carrying charges in the neighborhood of $10,000 a year, the city could have secured a $250,000 district technical school institution for $145,000 with Federal and Provincial Government help. The by-law is being that about twice put, and twice failed, to secure a necessary three-fifths majority to pass, though attaining an actual majority of votes.

The technical school by-law is to be put to the ratepayers again, if the Provincial Government will renew its offer of direct financial aid to the building, and after the trustees have interviewed the City Council to these facts before the governing civic body.

The district technical school is the only means of satisfying the accommodation needed, at the lowest possible cost, and gives in addition the medium for an adjustment of courses more in keeping with what students are demanding in their enrolment to-day. It was stated.

OFFICIALS REPORT

These factors were laid clearly before the board last night by George Deane, municipal inspector of city schools, and by Principal Ira Dilworth, head of the Victoria High School. Both officials collaborated on a draft analysis of the students now standing in the High School, and how many would have to be provided for in the next school term, beginning in September. The analysis showed eight divisions would be without classrooms at that date, three of which would be without accommodation of any kind.

BOARD UNANIMOUS

The board last night time arguing on the figures. Trustee J. L. Beckwith moved that the technical school grant be sought once more from the Provincial Government, and the by-law put again. Trustee G. A. A. Hebdon, seconded the motion, and an unanimous body passed it. Trustees made it plain that they in no sense wished to challenge the reverse vote of the ratepayers, but thought that as further delay would mean a loss of $12,000 a year, they could not do less than point out the cheapest and most permanent way out of the difficulty.

MAKE SHIFT CLASSES

Conditions at the High School at this date were fully described by Inspector Deane and Mr. Dilworth. Classes were being taught behind a partition of the basement, separating the bicycle racks from the wash-basins for boys and girls, giving two "rooms." Corridor space needed for fire exits avenues on the second floor was also partitioned off, giving another "room." Two science demonstration rooms had become class rooms, with little science demonstration possible. Two rooms in the Boys' Central School, 400 yards away, were High School "rooms," with two teachers quartered there throughout the day.

In addition to this, the auditorium held between 900 and 1,000 students at the present time, but the 1,345 students present at the institution would not all fit in at one time. Science demonstration was difficult.

HARD TO MANAGE

Shuttle-schedule teachers ranged the building from the third floor to the basement, without any room of their own. Off duty teachers in the "free" period, had no place to retire, to study or mark papers, or even keep out of way of classes in session. The efficient management of the school had been most difficult, added Mr. Dilworth, supplementing the review by the school inspector. Everything but the roof had been pressed into use, and now the limit of space had been taken up, he said.

In September, it was shown, the 1,345 students would be added to by

TRUSTEES LAUGH AT GYRO CAPERS

Completing the roster of appropriate gifts from the City Club to members of the 1929 civic administration, Gyro G. A. Hebdon presented Trustees W. C. Moresby, K.C., and A. C. Pike with their presents at a meeting of the City School Board last night. Mr. Moresby received a cardboard tool chest, with the explanation that it would replace him in the loss of the technical school. In a short time, he was given a copper oil can, with the advice that he was not to carry his known abstention too far and deprive machinery under his care from its proper due. The board had a hearty laugh, in which the recipients of the favors joined readily. Mr. Moresby said he appreciated the gift with the exception of the saw, his small son having developed apparent leanings towards the surgical profession.

three more divisions, or not less than forty-three divisions in all, with no possibility of accommodating that number, or dealing with the roster efficiently.

POPULATION CLIMBING

A five-page analysis by classes, presented to the board, showed the number of pupils attending the schools, where they came from, how long they would be there, and the clock-like rate of progression at which the school population of the city is going up. This analysis is on file at the offices of the board, and will also be sent to the City Council, it was intimated.

The analysis showed how the figures were arrived at, and also the fact that the city would have a net loss of $11,498 yearly if Saanich students are excluded from the High School. The yearly payments by Saanich were given as $28,400 for the present year.

TO APPEAL AGAIN

On these facts, there was nothing left but to appeal to the ratepayers again, if the Government grant was forthcoming, the board decided. The trustees will wait on the Provincial Government in a body this week, to see if the offer of the grant will be renewed; and if successful in that, will wait on the City Council with a full explanation of the facts.

A full board attended the meeting and expressed itself as unanimous on the action to be taken. Meanwhile trustees are to go again over the figures of cost for the technical school plan, to see if they can be lowered by any means. After a three-hour session the board adjourned.

WOULD PERMIT VANCOUVER TO REST IN PEACE

Mainland Not Eager to Disturb Remains of Great Navigator

The Vancouver Post of the Native Sons of British Columbia was prompted to propose that the remains of Captain Vancouver be transferred from the churchyard in Peterborough, England, where they are now resting, because of reports that the grave was neglected. Dudley C. Durrant, chief factor of No. 2 Post, declares:

Mr. Durrant's statement follows protest against the proposal at the last meeting of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce, when the plan was called "sacrilege." C. C. Pemberton, well-known Vancouver Island historian, drew the attention of the directors to the matter, and while not in favor of the removal of the remains, he said that if the remains were removed, Vancouver Island was the logical place to bring them to, his claim was supported by historical facts.

URGES CARE OF GRAVE

In answer to the Victoria protest Mr. Durrant says:

"The suggestion that the remains of Captain Vancouver be transferred to Vancouver to be placed beneath the monument that the Canadian Club will raise to him, was as a result of information which had come to the Native Sons to the effect that his grave at Peterborough was more or less neglected. It was in the hope of creating a new interest in the last resting place of the gallant navigator that the idea was advanced, and then it was clearly set out that this should be the last alternative. Further, it was stated by me that we were investigating the report that had come to us, and in that respect we have communicated with the Agent-General for British Columbia, asking him to visit the graveyard and advise us of the truth of the statements."

NOT SO SERIOUS

"Recently we have had two communications from prominent men who have lately been at the Peterborough Cemetery and they advise that the neglected complaints of the grave have been more or less exaggerated."

"Our interest as an organization has been to pay that respect, which we consider to be due, to the memory of Captain Vancouver. To that end we went through the courtesy of the Vancouver Board of Trade, had native trees of this Province planted in the churchyard, and have been most anxious to report on the condition of the grave."

"We would, in all seriousness and with all respect, suggest to the Victoria Chamber of Commerce that it should show its new interest in Captain Vancouver's memory in a constructive manner, by establishing a fund which will guarantee that this grave will, for all time, be properly taken care of."

SAANICH VOTERS HEAR MUNICIPAL OFFICE-SEEKERS

Reeve Crouch and Candidates Address Large Ward Two Meeting

Ward Two Saanich ratepayers turned out in strong force last night at St. Mark's Hall, Bolekine Road, to discuss municipal affairs. V. C. Graham was elected chairman.

Reeve William Crouch said contents for public office had good effect. He urged entry of opposition against himself for the reevehip, fearing that lack of contest would militate against the success of the by-law to raise $80,000 for waterworks extension to Cordova Bay and other betterments.

Regarding the inquiry into secession, Reeve Crouch expressed confidence in the fairness of Premier Tolmie and was pleased with appointment of Judge P. S. Lampman as official adjudicator. "Whatever the decision, there will be no bitterness on my part," he said.

Assessment of lots at double the selling price was contrasted by the Reeve with acreage which cannot be purchased at more than twice the assessed value, and Reeve Crouch stated this factor will be inquired into by Judge Lampman.

"Secessionists in the rural areas want the Government to pay for most of their roads—and most of their school costs—and they want the city for that to be done," he pointed out, remarking that rural property owners desiring secession have paid out nearly $3,000 in fees, and that opinion is sharply divided between east and west portion of Ward Six.

SUPPORTS BY-LAW

Reeve Crouch pointed out that the waterworks by-law for $80,000 will not increase taxes, and extension to Cordova Bay would forestall possibility of an epidemic originating in pollution of wells. In the event of secession the work would not be carried out, unless the district were retained in Saanich. "It is good business for everyone to vote for this by-law," he declared, pointing out that the waterworks have always earned a profit, which now amounts to $14,000.

LOWER TAXES

"I am going to recommend reduction of our rate to twenty-eight mills instead of thirty mills effective in 1928. Saanich was never in such prosperous condition. We pay off $60,000 in debt every year and can cut 6 1/2 mills off the rate afterwards," the Reeve asserted, crediting past administrations with the improvement in prospect.

MORE WALKS AND LIGHTS

J. McNair Paterson, candidate for councillor in Ward Two, denounced against announcing any definite policy in view of the forthcoming inquiry by Judge P. S. Lampman into secession and legislation to terminate complaints from rural areas of Saanich.

Mr. Paterson pledged "a dollar of value for a dollar spent," and recalled that as secretary of the Central Ratepayers' Association, he had some acquaintance with council problems. He stated he had discovered that property owners concerned in the Cordova Bay extension, to cost nearly $50,000, were evenly divided between support and opposition.

Mr. Paterson agreed that more sidewalks and street lights were needed in Ward Two, and favored immediate construction of a sewerage system, even on a local improvement plan. "Things are getting dangerous," he warned, favoring creation of a garbage collection system.

"These things cost money, if you want them you must pay for them," he pointed out.

Mr. Paterson believed that the inner wards will be absorbed by Victoria in less than ten years, and foresaw creation by the Government of a Greater Victoria Water Board taking all water control out of civic control.

UP TO PEOPLE

Deane Hoare, council candidate, believed a referendum or by-law should be submitted to the voters concerned before any sewerage plan was undertaken. He considered the $80,000 waterworks by-law certain to fail.

"The candidate believed the Saanich roads to be very good, and favored concentration of effort on construction of sidewalks in the ward."

Mr. Hoare emphatically protested against absorption of urban Saanich by Victoria, remarking upon the progress made by Saanich since 1913.

The candidate was asked for his views on development of industry, and whether he would support co-operation by Saanich with the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau. Mr. Hoare considered Saanich had little opportunity for industrial expansion, believing all efforts should be directed towards keeping taxation at a minimum, with good roads, to attract home-seekers. "When the population is here, industry will come," he said.

F. Smith, proponent of many questions, was called upon by the meeting to speak. "Both candidates have done very well, it seems a case of six to one and half-a-dozen to the other," he said.

The history of past efforts to attain sewers, inclusion in Victoria water supply for the peninsula and other matters were touched upon, the speaker believing partition of Saanich would not become effective.

Factions of Kenya Tribes in Clashes

Nairobi, Kenya, Colony, South Africa, Jan. 10.—Young men of the Mahali tribe, who had just been received in the warrior rite and were anxious to demonstrate their manhood by the ancient custom of "bloodying their spears," caused outbreaks in some areas of the reservation. Several tribesmen were killed and colonial police have been sent to the affected area. However, as the condition is a periodic one, no serious developments are expected.

FARMERS HEAR LEADER'S VIEWS

T. Wood Tells Manitoba Agriculturists Present Form of Association Best

Brandon, Man., Jan. 10.—Opinions that the United Farmers of Manitoba should be superseded by commercial co-operative organizations formed by the farmers were labelled "a peculiar and very menacing danger" in the presidential address of Thomas Wood at the annual convention of the United Farmers here yesterday.

Contending that "certain interests" are still active in seeking to advance themselves at the expense of the people living on and working the land, Mr. Wood emphasized the necessity for a continuation of the farm body.

"Our predecessors in 1908 saw the need," he commented, "and we must not prove less sagacious than they."

Two other reasons were advanced why the farmers should continue to "pay out $12,000 to $15,000 annually to maintain the association."

Mr. Wood considered the series of routine services set up within the farmer body and the educational system operated in conjunction with the organization were in themselves worth the cost of continuing the association.

other organization. At present the council has no representation from the Saskatchewan body, though the United Farmers of Manitoba and Alberta are prairie representatives.

Vancouver Presbytery Adopts Resolutions

Vancouver, Jan. 10.—Resolutions asking the Federal Government to refuse clearance to vessels carrying liquor to the United States, urging the British Columbia Government to adopt a text-book on temperance and appoint an instructor to supervise teaching of the "evils of using alcoholic liquor," and asking for a publicist on the continuance of beer parlors, have been adopted by the Vancouver Presbytery of the United Church.

Resolutions expressing gratification at the election of W. H. Malkin as Mayor of Vancouver, and asking the city council to pay T. W. Fletcher legal expenses for the police inquiry were passed.

Malta Reduces Its Senate's Powers

MACWHITE NEW IRISH MINISTER

Dublin Sends Its Geneva Representative to Post at Washington

Dublin, Jan. 10.—Michael Macwhite, who has represented the Irish Free State at Geneva since 1922, has been appointed Minister to the United States, to succeed Timothy Smiddy, recently transferred to London as High Commissioner.

Mr. Macwhite is a native of West Cork and is regarded as having made a great success in handling Ireland's interests at Geneva.

He has had a varied and adventurous career. He was a soldier in the Balkan campaign, and before the war taught languages for several years in Copenhagen. In 1914, at the outbreak of the World War, he enlisted in the French Foreign Legion and saw service in France and Africa. He commanded the last French unit that was left in Serbia, and was decorated for bravery on the field. He accompanied the French military mission to the United States, and at the request of the United States Government lectured on the Liberty Loans. The new Minister was a valued friend of Arthur Griffith, one of the founders of the Irish Free State, at whose request he represented the Dail Eireann in Paris. Later he was made official representative of the Free State at Geneva. He went to Paris when President Cochrane signed the Kellogg-Briand Treaty renouncing war.

Mrs. Macwhite is Danish-born. She is an artist and has given exhibitions of her paintings in Dublin.

Premier King's Plan For Resources Of Manitoba Upheld

Brandon, Man., Jan. 10.—Delay in the settlement of the natural resources problem, "largely due to eastern influences with previous Federal Governments," was termed "an insult to the prairie provinces" in the report of the committee on natural resources placed before the United Farmers of Manitoba at their annual convention here to-day.

The report, read to the farmers' annual gathering by John Davies, marked the first occasion on which a committee of the United Farmers of Manitoba had submitted a report on the natural resources question. It was a 1,500-word treatise, of which a major section was devoted to a description of the various resources within the provincial boundaries of Manitoba.

By admitting in 1922 Manitoba's right to provincial control of its resources, the report stated in qualification of its criticism of Federal administration, "the King Government had adopted a different attitude from its predecessors."

BIBLE RESEARCH IN ABYSSINIA

Chicago, Jan. 10.—Plans for an Abyssinian expedition for research in Biblical history were announced yesterday by Dr. Samuel A. B. Mercer, professor of Semitics and Egyptology at the University of Toronto. Dr. Mercer is lecturing at the Western Theological Seminary here.

The expedition will leave for New York February 1 to be gone six months. The sponsors are the Society of Oriental Research, headed by Dr. Mercer, the Metropolitan Museum of New York, the College of Hebrew Learning of Philadelphia and Trinity College, Toronto.

One of the objects of the mission is to search for undiscovered manuscripts of seven books of the Bible which were not translated into the Ethiopic language.

Wheat Rust Fight In U.S. Described

Saskatoon, Jan. 10.—Efforts in the United States to combat wheat rust propagation formed the subject of an address by Dr. E. C. Stakman, professor of plant pathology at the University of Minnesota here yesterday to the delegates at the annual convention of the Saskatchewan Agricultural Society. About 300 delegates attended.

While persons far and wide were moralizing on the wickedness of Chicago, said the speaker, there was a wicked influence in the United States often overlooked which had a direct bearing on Canada, namely, the wickedness of rust. "It is a wicked, black stem rust, which blew up from Texas and points north to worry the farmers and cheat them out of their crops."

Offering three methods of helping rid the continent of rust, Dr. Stakman referred to the killing of the barberry bush, which he said "could be done by the use of sulphur dusting, and breeding of rust resisting wheats. He admitted the United States was sending rust to Canada, but said his country was making every effort to wipe out the evil."

LEAGUE APPEAL ON ANNIVERSARY

Sir George Foster Urges In-

World Peace Move

Ottawa, Jan. 10.—In connection with the ninth anniversary of the League of Nations, Senator Sir George Foster, president of the League of Nations Society in Canada, to-day issued the following statement:

"On January 10, 1920, the League of Nations was brought into being as authorized by the covenant and the Peace Conference. It then had few friends, many enemies, a host of critics, and it faced an apathetic, if not cynical world public."

"To-day it is recognized as a permanent institution. Through its instrumentality, aggressive warfare to-day is universally condemned as a crime against humanity, and is facing the imminent sentence of outlawry by the combined nations of the world."

"All that is needed to achieve permanent world peace is the continued support by individual men and women in every nation."

"Let us all dedicate ourselves anew on this anniversary of the birth of the League of Nations to the sacred duty and service of delivering humanity from the menace which has so long and so cruelly scourged it."

LIGHT RATES IN NANAIMO ARGUED

Council Turns Question Over to Its Successors

Nanaimo, Jan. 10.—The proposed new light schedule came up for discussion before the council, Alderman Rennie as chairman of the lighting committee introducing the subject.

He made a motion to the effect that the matter be referred to the incoming council with a recommendation for its further consideration.

Alderman Smith moved in amendment that the council go on record as being opposed to the new schedule, and that it urge the new council to turn it down. There was, he stated, no saving to small consumers under new schedule, and it was the small consumer who was complaining.

There was no second to Alderman Smith's amendment, and after much discussion Alderman Rennie's motion carried.

The City Council at its last regular meeting was in receipt of three letters from hardware merchants opposed to closing at 5 o'clock instead of 6 p.m. Alfred Nash asked that he never signed the petition and asked that the proceedings be stopped.

Ray Colclough wrote that since signing petition he found all the hardware merchants were not in favor, so he asked his name withdrawn from the petition.

T. Morton stated he was opposed to plan, and did not wish his name on the petition.

In dealing with these letters, Alderman Ironside pointed out that as the petition stood, seventy-five per cent of the firms had signed, so the council had no alternative but to pass a by-law. To bear out his statement Alderman Ironside read out the clauses covering this in the Municipal Act.

Word has been received by Mrs. R. Knarston, Selby Street, of the death of her sister, Miss A. Irvine, which took place in the Victoria General Hospital. The late Miss Irvine was well known in Nanaimo, and her sudden death will be cause for regret among her many friends here.

Nanaimo's fire loss is probably one of the smallest per capita of any city in Canada. The loss last year was only $3,630, compared with $4,760 in the previous twelve months.

Chemainus

A large number of social functions took place during the recent holidays. Oyster School being the centre of activities. The Saltair Farmers' Association gave a very jolly social when sixty persons played court whist. Many others were unable to play owing to lack of tables. The prize winners were: first, Mrs. Harry Southern; second, Mrs. Peerless; third, Mrs. Clarke; gentlemen's first, M. Doolley; second, Mrs. Rayer, playing a man's hand; consolation, Frank Porter. The tombola prize, a fine turkey, went to J. Rayer. A turkey raffle was won by Mrs. E. Proteau.

A good programme followed. Those contributing were: Song, J. Stevenson; duet, Percy Peerless and Jack Rayer; instrumental music, Mr. Thick; sketch, An Italian Organ Grinder, F. Rumble.

Delicious refreshments were served by the local ladies, after which dancing was enjoyed.

The Saltair Baptist Mission held its annual Christmas tree on Thursday at Oyster School, when children and adults filled the room to capacity. A good programme was rendered, followed by games and the dismantling of the heavily-laden Christmas tree. Each child received a nice present, a Christmas stocking and a bag of nuts, oranges and candy.

Rev. E. M. Cook was presented with an easy chair and cushion and Mrs. Cook a handsome cake plate.

Miss Clements and her pupils gave a very enjoyable entertainment in Oyster School which was beautifully decorated for the occasion with evergreens and paper streamers.

The following excellent programme was rendered: Song, "We Merry Christmas," by the school; clapping dance by eight little girls dressed in costumes of yellow and black; Christine Orr, Susan Orr, Gertrude Nelson, Blanche Rumble, Betty Williams, Anita Troop, Edith Solmi and Evelyn Solmi; recitation, "The Tell Tales," Charlie and Bobby Porter, dialogue, "Johnnie's Pa Plays Football," Irene Fraser, William Battala, Tommy Porter, John Orr and Laura Nelson; carol, "The Three Kings," Christine Orr, Laura Nelson and Edith Solmi with chorus by the school and "Blanche Rumble as the mother; recitations, Jean Porter, "Christmas," Gwendine Williams, "Our Nice Boat," Bobby Porter, "Church

FOR THE THIRD TIME

THE BOARD OF SCHOOL TRUSTEES has decided to ask the taxpayers to reconsider their decision regarding a Technical School once more before the period for obtaining a government grant towards such an institution comes to an end on March 31.

It is not surprising that the School Board has wasted no time in dealing with this important matter. It was pointed out on the morrow of the defeat of the bylaw last month that one of the first things the Board would have to do this year would be ask the taxpayers for more money, either to build a new High School or a Technical School. In the face of the discouragement with which this body has met, its obvious belief that Victoria does not really intend to impel the efficiency of its educational institutions is fortunate for the youth of the community.

Our readers by this time no doubt are thoroughly familiar with all the aspects of this educational controversy. They may, however, be restated briefly. The present High School was built to accommodate 1,000 pupils; the student roll this term is approaching 1,400 and is expected to pass the 1,500-mark within twelve months. A new High School would cost about $350,000. All this money would have to be found by the taxpayers of Victoria. A Technical School, which would effectively relieve the serious congestion at the High School, would cost $250,000 to build and equip. But only $145,000 of this amount would have to be provided by the taxpayers; the rest would be contributed on a fifty-fifty basis by the Dominion and provincial governments. In other words, by sanctioning the establishment of a Technical School the taxpayers would save themselves something like $200,000, and they also would be furnishing the youth of this community with educational facilities which the youth of other progressive communities are enjoying.

It should be borne in mind that the Board of School Trustees has given this matter very serious consideration during the last two years. It has declared emphatically many times that it must either have this Technical School or a new High School if it is to maintain efficiency in the premier public educational establishment of the city. Chairman Jay has publicly advocated a Technical School as the most sensible and most economic way out of the existing difficulty. Former Trustee Straith has supported the proposal just as ardently. The popular vote last month put Mr. Jay at the top of the School Board poll and Mr. Straith at the top of the Aldermanic poll. Trustee Moresby, equally convinced of the necessity for satisfying this pressing need, was a close second, with Trustee Hebdon, who declared himself in favor of the Technical School by a statement to the press, safely in third place. More than ordinary significance should be seen in this.

The main thing to be remembered is that the situation at the High School demands immediate correction. If the taxpayers ignore it by refusing the money for one or the other of these proposals, they will not be in a position to complain to the Board of School Trustees if that body should throw up its hands and, by sheer force of circumstances, confess its inability to deal with the matter.

INTERPRETING THE UNITED STATES

IN THE CURRENT ISSUE OF THE REVIEW OF REVIEWS, Mr. Wickham Steed, former editor of The London Times, discusses the subject of British and United States relations, and tells his readers that Great Britain should begin to realize that a better understanding between that country and the republic on the South is needed; that it is time for the people of Britain to confess that "it cannot be born solely of those traditions which Britons and Americans share, or of their approximately common tongue."

Mr. Steed observes that a number of British public men have appealed, rather plaintively, for an effort on the part of the United States to comprehend and to make allowances for the special position and peculiar needs of Great Britain and of the British Commonwealth in the matter of sea communications and of the sea-borne food supplies of the British Isles. On this point he argues:

"Such appeals are signs of inferior intelligence. They show that those who make them fail to understand the United States or to grasp the elementary truth that a nation of 120,000,000 souls, inhabiting half a continent, cannot possess an island sense. . . . It is for us, who inherit both sea sense and world sense, to define our own needs and policy in such terms that the American people will understand them and the purposes which sea power must henceforth serve."

From this point the former London Times editor goes on to an analysis of the position which the two nations occupy. He declares that the essence of the American position is its simplicity, while the essence of the British position is its complexity. "To attempt to comprehend the complex," Mr.

Steed reminds us, "is to ask an absurdity." He then continues:

"The right method is for the complex to comprehend the simple and to state its own complexities so simply that the simple can understand them. In order to do this we need to rid ourselves of the obsession of our own complexities, and to get down to fundamental principles. We need also to be up-to-date and foresighted. The future should shape itself in our minds before it has become actuality. In other words, we want vision. Without it we shall lag behind."

Mr. Steed concludes his reference to the general subject of Anglo-American relations by fairly wiping the floor with those people in Britain who seem to imagine that every time a United States Admiral barks for a big navy his plaint falls upon sympathetic ears. He says they seem to take no account of the fact that early this year an American naval ship-building programme was cut down, "under pressure of public opinion," from 91 units to 15 units, while they also ignore the fact that President Coolidge's message to Congress on December 4 urged the adoption of this modified programme "with the elimination of the time clause." That is to say, without any specification of the period within which they should be built, "if they are built at all." Nor do these people who talk of jingoistic America "allude to the indisputable fact that even the reduced Cruiser Bill would have stood a very poor chance had not France and Great Britain put forward their Naval Compromise last Summer."

As to the future, Mr. Steed reminds us that it is totally incompatible with the spirit of international peace for soldiers, statesmen or journalists to talk or write of "the next war" as the major probability if not the unavoidable certainty. In other words, they would be better employed in using their brains to think out the implications of peace, and ways of surmounting the obstacles that impede the march of mankind towards it.

GENERAL BOOTH'S RETIREMENT

BECAUSE OF THE CONDITION OF HIS health the High Council of the Salvation Army has adopted a resolution asking General Bramwell Booth, leader of the Army for the last sixteen years, to retire from that position.

This decision would seem to indicate that the power of that small but vigorous section which for long has insisted upon the "dynastic control of the Booth family" has been overcome. The other section of the organization is represented by a vast body of public opinion in all parts of the world which, while appreciating the great work done by that family since the foundation of the Army by the late General William Booth, considers the time has arrived for some such revision of the constitution as that which the founder contemplated when he executed the High Council deed a quarter of a century ago. This wing does not regard "dynastic control" as essential to the Army's continued success. On the other hand, moreover, it bases its opinion on the belief that a constitution which makes one man sole arbiter of the Army's operations and sole trustee of its vast possessions is not in accordance either with the spirit of the times or suitable for the requirements of the organization as it now exists.

It is pointed out by those in favor of the change that the Salvation Army no longer is solely a religious body; but a commercial and financial concern of great magnitude, employing many thousands of enthusiastic people, all laboring for the common good. Although this change through the years has taken place on the one hand, it is claimed on the other that progress and development have stood still. What now is sought, therefore, is distribution of responsibility, an end of autocratic power, and the creation of new administrative machinery.

While these factors have determined the action of the High Council, and are recognized as of supreme importance by the great bulk of the Army's membership the world over, we may be sure that many would have preferred to have spared the aged General something at this stage of his life which would wound him deeply.

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

BEAUBARNOIS POWER

The Border Cities Star

With the example of Niagara before them, how is it possible for the people of Quebec or any other province to agree to give away several million horse power of electricity? The Beaubarnois Company is not in business for its health. The proposal it offers is based on a well-arranged plan to make money. That is perfectly proper, but it is no reason why the public—its eyes having been opened on other occasions—should hand over this natural heritage. There is only one way that power companies can make money and one way that is by selling power and selling it at a profit. Why should the people turn over any waterpower site to a private company and later buy the power back from the company at an increased rate? At Niagara Falls, electricity is being developed on a tremendous scale by the people and for the people. . . . Why, with Hydro so successful, then, with such a general backing as it has registered, should there be the slightest consideration for a plan to permit a private corporation to annex a large and important slice of the St. Lawrence electrical pie? If the St. Lawrence navigation and power scheme is sound enough to warrant private interests making a big fight to participate, then it must be sound enough and attractive enough for the people to retain for themselves. That should be the government's answer to the power companies. Hands off our natural resources!

The bidding—South opens the bidding with ♠ 1. West bids two hearts. North passes, as he does not hold normal support in spades and any other bid would be misleading. South bids three spades, and West might also have opened the bidding with two spades; an initial bid of two in a suit denotes the exact holding of six cards in that suit headed by the ace, king and queen. Deciding the play—West leads king of hearts and on the second round captures another trick with the ace of hearts. Then West leads king of clubs, which Declarer captures with ace of clubs. What suit should Declarer now lead?

The error—Declarer tries to establish diamonds at the first opportunity and leads that suit. The correct method—As soon as he is on the lead, Declarer draws opponents' trumps, playing ace, king and queen of spades in that order, with the probability that the five outstanding trumps are divided three and two. Then the diamonds are established and game is assured for. If opponents lead any other suit after fining the ace of diamonds, Declarer wins the trick by ruffing it. The attempt to establish the diamonds too soon may result in sacrificing the game, as opponents may win two tricks in hearts, the last being won two tricks in diamonds, may continue a diamond suit with the possibility of winning the next diamond trick by ruffing. There is no necessity of taking this lone chance of losing the game. The principle—Draw trumps when you can do so without surrendering control of them and have a side suit which you can readily establish thereafter.

NEW TUN GIVEN DEATH MYSTERY

Police Investigating W. M. Russell's Death Find Blood on Boat in Fraser

New Westminster, Jan. 10.—Dull red patches of dried blood, discovered on the forward deck and deckhouse of the gasboat Capona gave a new turn to the mystery tragedy of William M. Russell, Coquitlam municipal clerk, whose body was found last Monday morning with a bullet wound through the head across a log fence below the wharf at the foot of Begbie Street here. The Capona was moored to the wharf when the death was discovered.

The new find, made last evening, it is said, points to the probability that Russell met his death on the gasboat and not on the wharf as previously believed. Close examination of the rope which held the bow of the boat to the piling also revealed minute blood traces. It now seems probable Russell shot himself or was shot on the boat, staggered forward a few paces and then pitched backward over the logs. The fresh evidence disposes of the hitherto unexplained mystery of the peculiar position of the body on the log after Russell was supposed to have been shot on the wharf.

JAMES ISLAND CANARIES WIN WORLD PRIZES

Four roller canaries traveled 2,500 miles from James Island recently to Kansas City to compete in a show against 500 rollers from England, Germany, the United States and Canada. The James Island birds took first, second and third prizes, winning two silver cups. They were then sent to St. Louis, Mo., and competed at a large show there, winning four silver cups and many special prizes. They arrived home for Christmas and are now resting on James Island. They are the property of William Thompson.

Samples of the blood were sent today to the city analyst in Vancouver, in order to determine officially that it is human blood. In addition to other important discoveries yesterday, newspapermen succeeded in establishing the exact hour at which Russell was shot as 4:45 Monday morning. At that hour Bus Bell, driver for the Royal City Taxi, whose stand is near the wharf, heard the sound of a shot near the water-front. Bell and others in the taxi stand thought some person was potting at a stray cat.

A.O.F. Officers Are Installed

Officers of all adult courts of the A.O.F. in Victoria were installed at a meeting Monday night in the A.O.F. Hall, Cormorant Street. Past District Chief Ranger Greenwood presided, assisted by District Secretary G. W. Andrews. The various courts involved in the ceremony were: Maple Leaf, Triumph, Northern Light, Canoe, Victoria and the Victoria Star. Several prominent members of the order spoke following the installation, besides the newly-elected chief ranger of each court. Prior to the ceremony, Court Vancouver, No. 9785, held their usual business meeting. A new candidate for membership in the court was reported.

Saanich Builds Playing Fields

Construction of playing fields near Quadra Street in Saanich will be undertaken immediately. Representatives of the municipal council and the residents of the district last night met at the Lake Hill Community Centre and voted $2,000 for construction of a bowling green on the tract to be developed on Reynolds Road. A football field will also be laid out on this area at a cost of $2,000.

A second park area will be created on property facing Rock Street. Funds for both undertakings will be provided from a grant of $10,000 made to the district by the council following disposal of the Lake Hill bus line for $15,000 last Summer.

LORD BURGHLEY MARRIED TO-DAY

Lady Mary Scott Bride of Olympic Champion at Strand Church

London, Jan. 10.—Lord David Burghley, son and heir of the Marquis of Exeter and famous hurdler and Olympic champion, and Lady Mary Scott, daughter of the Duke of Buccleugh, were married this afternoon in the old time church of Saint Clement Dane in the Strand. The occasion was the first society wedding to be solemnized on the Strand in many years. Lord Martin Cecil acted as best man for his brother. The Bishop of Blackburn officiated and the church was thronged with a fashionable crowd, among them being a large number of athletes and other sporting figures who were included in the 900 persons invited to the wedding. The bride is a red-haired girl of Queen Mary, who had been expected to be present had not King George's illness intervened. Two members of the Royal Family, Princess Mary and the Duke of Gloucester, sent presents. Lord Burghley won the inter-collegiate hurdle championship in April, three years ago and the 400-metre hurdles title at the last Olympic Games. The bride is interested in sports and is known as a brilliant horsewoman.

Rockefeller Seeks To Oust Stewart

New York, Jan. 10.—John D. Rockefeller Jr. has sent letters to stockholders of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana seeking their proxies for the annual meeting of the company in March to oppose the re-election of Colonel Robert W. Stewart as chairman of the company. It was learned today.

POSE DARING SERUM FLIGHTS

Anti-vivisection Society Sees Relief Attempts as Advertising

Daring attempts to bring relief in the case of disease epidemics to outposts of Canada were deprecated in a resolution passed by the local Anti-Vivisection Society at a directors' meeting Tuesday as methods of advertising serums and vaccines. The resolution follows: "Resolved that this society deprecates the attempt to advertise the use of serums and vaccines by staging of sensational aeroplane flight and dog-team journeys to combat presumed epidemics similar to hepatitis having been shown to be a method of commercial advertising."

T. L. Boyden presided over the meeting. It was stated that much interest is being shown in the Illinois society which is endeavoring to put through a bill for the abolition of vivisection in that state. Chicago alone has 200 vivisection places it was explained. A letter was read from the sister organization relative to the bill, and much sympathy was expressed. The New York International Society, with which Victoria is affiliated, reported such an increase in sympathy with the movement that it was almost impossible to keep up with station work. At the recent conference ten new humane organizations were founded, making 114 in all since the founding of the organization a few years ago. Hundreds of signatures to a petition to exempt dogs from experimentation were being received every day, the report said.

The Calgary society reported much interest and progress, members of the Alberta and Federal Governments being circulated as well as officials in public organizations.

Hearing that the Duchess of Hamilton and Miss Lind-A-Hageby will be in California shortly an invitation has been extended to them to visit Victoria on behalf of the anti-vivisection cause. A bill which is connected with the inspection of schools and other matters, was discussed, it being felt that this bill infringes the rights of citizens in respect to health matters. Complaints have been received by the society regarding the treatment of children in the schools.

AUTOMATIC PHONE TO BE INSTALLED

B.C. Telephone Co. Ready to Go Ahead Here as The Times Forecasted

Installation of an automatic telephone system in Victoria exclusively forecasted by The Times on September 13 last will be completed next year, it is announced by James Hamilton, vice-president and general manager of the B.C. Telephone Company. Investigations in connection with the proposal to install automatic telephones here were made following the acquisition of the company by the Associated Telephone and Telegraph Company and its associated companies, comprising British and American Investors. The rapid development of telephonic communication in Greater Victoria is responsible for the decision of the company to put in automatic here. The Blackchange street exchange was opened in 1912 with 5,902 subscribers. At the present time there are 16,692 telephone subscribers in the city. To accommodate the automatic equipment the B.C. Telephone Com-

Noted Woman Explorer And Archaeologist Was Pupil of Miss Gildea

Miss Gertrude Caton-Thompson, Head of British Expedition to Excavate on Site of King Solomon's Mines, Was Very Delicate Schoolgirl, Says Principal of Shawnigan Lake School.

More than passing interest attaches to the news dispatches that Miss Gertrude Caton-Thompson, an Englishwoman, is going to dig in the legendary site of King Solomon's Mines, which according to fable, provided jewels for an Oriental queen of Biblical times, for this intrepid archaeologist is a very close friend and former pupil of Miss Gildea, principal of the Shawnigan Lake School for Girls.

WAS DELICATE GIRL

As a girl, Miss Caton-Thompson was unusually delicate and between the age of fourteen to seventeen years, when she was a pupil at "The Links" School, at Eastbourne, Sussex, of which Miss Gildea was a partner, she was unable to stand the strain of the prescribed course. Although a brilliant student, mathematics and kindred subjects were too much of a strain for her, according to Miss Gildea, and she devoted most of her lessons to the study of literature and art. But she was passionately fond of music and under the tuition of the head of the Paris Conservatoire developed into a brilliant violinist.

On account of her poor health, Miss Caton-Thompson, on leaving "The Links" spent most of her winters in Southern Europe. While in Sicily she became interested in the excavations there and took up the study of Greek in order to understand their archaeology.

AT VERSAILLES CONFERENCE

The war interrupted her hobby, and she spent the four years in the Ministry of Marine in London, rising in eight months from an ordinary job as stenographer to be secretary to Sir William Salter, K.C., at the head of the ministry. In this capacity she sat throughout the Versailles conference, but refused to go with her chief later, when he was appointed Economic Secretary to the League of Nations.

WOMEN'S EXPEDITION

Miss Caton-Thompson is now on her way to Rhodesia, South Africa, in charge of an expedition to explore the ruins at Zimbabwe. Two other London girls are going with her. Miss Norris, a trained professional archaeologist, and Miss K. Kenyon, daughter of Sir Frederick Kenyon, director of the British Museum. They will make their preliminary surveys by airplane.

A BONE OF CONTENTION

The ruins of Zimbabwe have been a bone of contention among archaeologists since their discovery in 1888 by Adam Reinders. One group contends that they are the ruins of an ancient Phoenician civilization dating 2,000 to 3,000 B.C., while another attributes them to an African people, the Bantus, and insists they were constructed not earlier than the fourteenth or fifteenth century A.D.

The late Theodore Bent explored the ruins in 1891 and reported the finding of blue and green Persian pottery, a copper blade-plated with gold, and a statue sculptured with birds and vases, which he attributed to an ancient Semite people.

MRS. CROPPER IS NEW PRESIDENT MOTHERS' UNION

Gifts to New Cathedral Among Activities Planned at Annual Meeting Yesterday

Mrs. G. H. E. Cropper was elected president of the Mothers' Union at the annual meeting held yesterday afternoon at St. Mary's Hall, Oak Bay, when there was a large attendance of members. Other officers were: First vice-president, Mrs. B. H. Tyrwhitt Drake; second vice-president, Mrs. Llewellyn Thomas; secretary, Mrs. Sydney Oliver; treasurer, Mrs. Chas. Hart; literature secretary, Mrs. Chas. Hart; links secretary, Mrs. Brake. Mrs. Cropper in a short speech paid a warm tribute to the wonderful work of Mrs. Woodton during her years as president.

ACTIVITIES REVIEWED

After the business of the year had been closed the reports of the secretary-treasurer and literature secretary were read and adopted. The secretary in her report mentioned the beautiful service held last March in St. John's Church, and attended by over 300 members, and stated that the Rev. F. A. P. Chadwick had once again offered the church for the service this year. This offer was unanimously accepted by the meeting.

GIFT TO CATHEDRAL

She also referred to the two gifts which the Mothers' Union hoped to make to the new cathedral of a set of altar linen and a prayer book for the Children's Corner. In connection with the latter, a committee has been formed under Mrs. Watson to arrange an exhibition and stall at the forthcoming cathedral exhibition and donations for these were urgently appealed for.

PRESIDENT'S ADDRESS

Mrs. E. E. Woodton in her presidential address gave an account of the Dominion Council in Winnipeg, which she attended in October. A. Meriv can specialise in the members full details of the exhibition and bazaar to be held in the Memorial Hall next month.

W.M.S. Memorial Service Held For Late Mrs. Sipprell

The Metropolitan Missionary Society met Monday afternoon in the lecture room of the church for a memorial service to Mrs. W. J. Sipprell, who since the last meeting passed away. The members stood and silently offered their tribute, after which Mrs. Koyl offered an earnest and sympathetic prayer.

Miss Martin of the Oriental Home made the memorial address, basing her remarks on Hebrews II. She said in part: "While it is not easy to speak at a time like this—I never-the-less feel it a privilege to say a few words in loving memory of one who meant so much to us all, and who was so devoted to the work of our Missionary Society and to the whole work of God. The first passage that came to my mind, when I was trying to choose a passage of God's word to read at this service was that great 'Faith Chapter' written by one who was himself a man of conquering faith. As I think of the life and character of Mrs. Sipprell one strong characteristic stands out above all others in my mind—that of her strong faith. How often I have heard her and you have, too, as she stood before the women of the branch, in her annual address say words like these: 'Oh women, let us go forward with faith. Let us work as never before, for all things are possible if we go in the strength of Him who said, 'Lo I am with you always.' I think these words will ring in my ears and in my heart as long as I live, and that will be an inspiration to me, and I am sure to you, too, to go forward to greater things."

"If we wish to honor the memory of our much-loved sister and leader, we cannot do it in a better way than to carry on with the same faith the work that she loved so dearly."

"Let us honor her memory by carrying through our lives and into our work the inspiration of her strong faith. Though gone may she still speak by her influence."

NOMINATIONS MADE

Nominations were made for officers for next year, the scrutineers being Mrs. Andrew Wright and Miss Bannerman. The annual meeting will be held on Wednesday afternoon, February 6, at headquarters.

The Chapter expressed its gratification at the news of the improvement in the King's health. A standing vote of sympathy was passed by Mrs. W. C. Nichol for her recovery.

At the close of the meeting, Miss Agnew served a delicious tea and was accorded a hearty vote of thanks for her hospitality.

Metropolitan W.M.S. Elects Miss Braik As Its President

Miss Braik was elected president of the Metropolitan W.M.S. at the annual meeting on Monday afternoon in the lecture room of the church. Other officers chosen were: First vice-president, Mrs. Whitely; second vice-president, Mrs. Richardson; third vice-president, Mrs. Sonby; fourth vice-president, Mrs. Christian; recording secretary, Mrs. Hutton; treasurer, Mrs. Anderson; assistant, Mrs. O'Connell; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Harper; band secretary, Mrs. Monkman; and Mrs. Crouch, missionary monthly secretary. Mrs. Pettigrew, supply secretary, Mrs. Whitley; literature secretary, Miss Bowden; secretary, Christian helpers' secretary, Mrs. Lewis; strangers' secretary, Mrs. Menagh; pianist, Mrs. Koyl; finance committee, Miss Baker, Mrs. B. M. Christie, Mrs. Turk, Mrs. Anderson.

Interesting and encouraging reports were given by the departmental secretaries. The treasurer's report showed that the society had raised its allocation with a generous surplus. The society raised during the year $1,910.87. The allotment of $1,700 had been handed in and $100 given as a memorial to Mrs. Sipprell and the balance left in the expense account.

The corresponding secretary, Mrs. Harper, reported that forty-four letters of sympathy and condolence had been written during the year, and the strangers' secretary, Mrs. Menagh, reported 753 calls made and sixty-three letters written to cheer the strangers and comfort the sick.

THREE WINDOWS TO BE MEMORIAL IN CATHEDRAL

Parents, Missionary Workers and Teachers to Be Honored By Christ Church Committee

A perpetual memorial to "parents, missionary workers, and all faithful teachers," from the days of the earliest settlements in Victoria, Vancouver Island and the Gulf Islands, will be placed in the new Christ Church Cathedral as a result of a decision announced yesterday afternoon by the young people's and children's committee. The committee, together with members of the Junior Auxiliary in the diocese, have been working for many months to present to the cathedral the stonework and stained glass of three windows in the baptistery.

THE DEDICATION
The words of dedication to be inscribed in the stained glass of these windows, as drawn up by the young people's and children's committee and approved by the Bishop, read as follows:

"In grateful remembrance of parents, missionary workers and all faithful teachers, in this mother diocese of British Columbia."

The inscription has been sent forward to the artist, Percy Bacon of London, England, who is now at work on the windows, which are to be in place before the opening of the cathedral next September or October. The windows will be the most easily visible in the church, as they stand only nine feet above the floor of the baptistery, and will be seen by all who enter the west doors.

BUTTONS TO AID FUND
Proceeds of the sale of the souvenir buttons issued earlier in the month, and from the seventeenth anniversary exhibition and bazaar, to be held from February 6 to 9 in the Memorial Hall, will be devoted to the fund for presenting these windows and completing other portions of the baptistery.

Final details of organization for this four days' event will be considered at a meeting of the young people's and children's committee and all exhibition and bazaar workers, to take place tomorrow evening at 7:45 o'clock in the Memorial Hall, beginning with a short devotional service to be conducted by the Dean of Columbia.

Three Children Are Burned to Death

BIG ENROLLMENT REPORTED BY BORIS NOVIKOFF

Record enrollment of both professional dance teachers and leading amateur students of the dance has marked the second season of the Russian School of Dancing here as conducted by Ballet-Master Boris Novikoff and Prima Ballerina Tatiana Platova. Besides the local school, a branch studio is also conducted in Vancouver, B. C. by these noted Russian artists. The local school is under the direction of Mme. Tatiana Platova, formerly prima ballerina of the Imperial Ballet of Petrograd, and who has also appeared in the leading theatres of Europe and America. Co-operating with Mme. Platova in the supervision of both the local and Vancouver school is Boris Novikoff, premier dancer, who has appeared in leading roles in the Imperial Ballet of Russia, danced before the King in the Covent Garden Theatre in London, and also took leading parts in Grand Opera in Paris. This school, according to Mr. Novikoff, follows the programme and technique of the Imperial Russian ballet school, and of the school of grand opera in Paris. Although many of the advanced pupils do not desire to enter the professional field, Mme. Platova and Mr. Novikoff state that personality and poise are cultivated and greatly improved by then course of dance training. It is a tribute to the skill of these talented ballet instructors that among their public for the past season have been many local dancing teachers, who have taken instruction in advanced technique and classical ballet work. Notable among these are the Messrs. Nellie Near, Mary Isdale, and Marion Forbes, of Vancouver; Miss Mona Jewell in Victoria; Miss E. Dorothy Robertson of New Westminster; Miss Kathleen Russell of Duncan; and Miss Helen Parras, Astoria.

How to Darken Gray Hair

By BERYL WEST

I repeat what I have often said—there's no excuse to-day for a woman submitting to gray hair and looking older than she feels. Grey, faded or streaked hair may be so perfectly restored to color that it need be only your own boudoir secret. Nothing more or less than a mixture of sage tea and sulphur is the magic. One may either prepare the mixture at home, or, as most people prefer to do, buy it already prepared and ready to use. Weylin's Sage and Sulphur is the name of the ready-to-use preparation and since all druggists sell it in a 75¢ bottle, there is really no need of going to the trouble of making it yourself.

You simply moisten a comb or soft brush with it, and draw it through the hair, one strand at the time. One application banishes the grey and one or two more completely restores your grey, faded or streaked hair to its original color. There is no artificial, dyed look. The whole effect is one of perfect naturalness. My readers would be surprised if they knew of the thousands of men and women who use this preparation.

Charms of Japan Described Before Alliance Members

Yesterday's meeting of L'Alliance Française was made very interesting by an address upon Nikko, Japan, given by Miss G. Surplice, who has spent many years in this wonderful mountain district, where at the junction of two torrential rivers the little town of Nikko is built. The magnificent temples in the depths of the neighboring forests, temples finished in a rare red lacquer impervious alike to cold or heat, and so practically indestructible, were described and their unbelievable beauty of color, form and sculpture was further accentuated with fine pictures circulated among the audience. The red lacquer bridge gracefully spanning a deep ravine through which a torrent rushes, was shown and described as the Bridge of the Emperor leading to his Summer palace, and over which none but the royal feet may tread.

A charming story of a missionary in a fever-infested district giving his all to save the people, whose confidence he at last won and whose sympathy was so lavishly given in the loss of his own child through the fever, completed Miss Surplice's address, and in the general discussion which followed, many questions were asked and answered and others who had visited Japan added their meed of experience to the discussion, notably Mrs. Ruthford and Mrs. Schramm.

Madame Halet, the president, announced that the official lecture will be given on Monday evening, January 14, at 8:15 in the lecture room of Victoria College. M. Daniel Michonot, accredited lecturer sent out by L'Alliance Française, will arrive on Monday afternoon and will speak on "Two Great Comedians, Moliere and Coquelin." A reception to M. Michonot at the college will follow the lecture. Further information may be had by telephoning the secretary, 6274R1.

MOTHERS AND THEIR CHILDREN

BOYS WILL BE BOYS

One mother says—I have come to the proven conclusion that it is far better not to watch my boys in their active pursuits. Their father says we must let them climb and wrestle, and go through the various other phases of normally growing youth. I used to stand at the door or window, trembling and chilling with fear at the night-happens. When one of them would receive a minor injury and come running in to me for first-aid, I would tearfully declare that there had to be a stop put to such rough and tumble play. But now I have become wiser and calmer, letting them carry on the usual pursuits of youngsters of their age, without keeping them continually in sight and agonized thought. There haven't been nearly as many falls and bruises since, I am thankful to add.

FARMERS URGED TO FIGHT BEER PARLOR MENACE

Manitoba Convention Hears Stirring Address By United Farm Women's President

Brandon, Man., Jan. 10.—Unselfish co-operation of the individual members of the United Farmers of Manitoba in the struggle for membership and resultant financial stability, and similar co-operation with Manitoba's Government in liquor law enforcement were requested in the presidential address of Mrs. Sarah M. Gee, of the United Farm Women, yesterday.

Speaking before the members of the men and women brewers at their twenty-seventh annual convention, Mrs. Gee, a resident of Virdom, outlined her province-wide travels since taking office and pointed to co-operative effort in aid of the farm body and in support of the governmental law enforcement as two duties of the organization.

LACK OF INTEREST
Referring to obstacles in the path of the United Farmers' advance, Mrs. Gee's address quoted, first, "chilling lack of interest" and "the struggle for membership in order that we may have financial stability and carry on with the tasks that await people who are willing to forget their selfish individualistic attitudes and think and act for the greatest number."

In her plea for alert interest in the work of public school boards, in municipal affairs and in the progress of the legislature, Mrs. Gee said: "We have still to learn the far-reaching implication of that word 'co-operate' before we can accomplish the greatest good for the greatest number."

BEER PARLOR MENACE
"Young people to-day are facing greater temptations than their parents ever dreamed of," commented Mrs. Gee, mentioning the greater leisure that has come with the automobile, the menace of the beer parlor and the tendency to "go with the crowd." She recommended the greatest possible use of the temperance education programme provided by the Department of Education.

Labelling the present "condition of affairs" in her comment on the liquor situation as a "disastrous duty forced upon the government by the doctors of Manitoba," Mrs. Gee emphasized the necessity of particular attention toward the welfare of youth. She stated that if the Manitoba League Against Alcoholism was to be left without a secretary because of lack of funds, "the downfall of youth rests at our doors."

Support of community programmes, places for study groups, for training in public speaking and other educational opportunities, was embodied in Mrs. Gee's suggestion that some attraction be set up in opposition to the beer parlor. "Give to your youth such problems as these," she said, "and beer parlors and kindred evils will disappear in face of the flaming convictions that will be built up."

Children Stage Third Show to Aid Solarium

A group of Oak Bay children, all of the age of thirteen years, have just held their third "vaudeville show," and as a result the sum of $7 has been forwarded to Dr. C. Wace for the benefit of the little inmates of the Queen Alexandra Solarium. The youngsters who arranged and gave the show are Robert and Jean Murdoch, Pamela McCann, Lawrence Davis and Ruth and Edward Pangman.

The youthful promoters gave an excellent programme, charging five cents admission, and the grown-ups privileged to see it declared that it was the most successful, from every point of view, of the three shows staged by these enterprising youngsters.

The Toggery Shop Welcomes Patrons In New Quarters

Handsomely Appointed Store in Pemberton Building Provides Clients With Improved Service; Enlarged Store Facilities Permit Many New Conveniences For Patrons

Marking seventeen years of leadership as men's clothiers, The Toggery Shop to-day opens new premises in the Pemberton Building, on Fort Street, the splendidly equipped store being fifty per cent larger than the quarters occupied by the firm on Douglas Street since they commenced business in 1912.

The new store in the Pemberton Building, 623 Fort Street, possesses the finest display windows in Victoria, which are devoted to the men's furnishing trade, and the interior arrangements fulfill the prospect of comfort and convenience for patrons promised by the artistic entry.

The store is arranged on a plan which assures privacy for patrons, and the location of the various departments gives evidence of much attention to the comfort of the large clientele built up by the firm in a long business career in Victoria.

For the convenience of patrons, private fitting rooms have been provided at the rear of the store proper, the greatly enlarged space available in the new quarters making possible many services which were rendered impossible in the old site by lack of space.

The spacious plate glass windows are indirectly illuminated from lights set in ceiling recesses, and the deep embayment which leads to the store provides a remarkable opportunity to display to advantage the latest ideas in men's wear. The windows are oak floored, with mahogany trim.

The entry has been reconstructed in the latest style and presents an attractive exterior, worthy of the fine stock on display.

The store proper is equipped with modern lighting fixtures, and the store furniture is designed to show men's wear to advantage.

One of the advantages of the new quarters is the space available for stock, this enlarged accommodation making it possible to greatly extend the reserves carried by The Toggery Shop.

FIRM BEGAN SEVENTEEN YEARS AGO

Darrell W. Spence and Frank I. Doherty Came to Victoria in 1910

The Toggery Shop Was Organized in 1912 as Spence, Doherty & Company

The success of The Toggery Shop during seventeen years of catering to the clothing needs of men is to be traced to the personalities of the two partners in the firm, Darrell W. Spence and Frank I. Doherty, both being men who have been brought up in the men's wear business from youth.

Darrell W. Spence is an Ontario man, having been born and raised at Port Perry. After serving an apprenticeship in the retail clothing trade, Mr. Spence went to Toronto, where he accepted a position with the veteran drygoods firm of John Catto and Sons, one of the most famous retail concerns of the type in Eastern Canada.

The call of the West became insistent in 1907, and Mr. Spence came to Victoria, finding employment in various Coast communities and putting in one year in Alaska before settling permanently in this city in 1910, when he became a member of the staff of the firm of Fitzpatrick and O'Connell, then the leading retail men's wear firm of Victoria.

It was at this time that Mr. Spence met and became firm friends with Frank I. Doherty, who was also a new employee of the same firm. Mr. Doherty was born in Toronto, and spent his early business career in his native city, leaving a position with the well-known firm of Dunfield's Limited to accept a post with Fitzpatrick and O'Connell. At that time the Pacific Coast generally and Victoria in particular were enjoying unexampled prosperity. Leading firms on the Coast were extending attractive inducements to qualified young men to come to the Coast. It was such an invitation which induced Mr. Doherty to leave his secure position and attractive prospects in Toronto for the opportunity to grow up with one of the most rapidly expanding communities of the Pacific Coast.

RESIDENT OF VICTORIA SINCE 1907

In 1912, the young men joined resources and efforts and founded the firm of Spence, Doherty and Company, now known to all the discriminating manhood of Victoria and Vancouver Island by the title of The Toggery Shop.

The first store opened was at the site on Douglas Street which has now been outgrown for more than a year, but required only one-half the space occupied in recent years. The expansion to the double frontage was made in 1914.

1914 the growing firm was selected as the Victoria agency for the famous Society Brand of men's clothing, and its business has grown with the passage of years until the exclusive franchise has become one of the most valuable assets of the clothing trade of Vancouver Island.

Society Brand clothes for men, handled exclusively in Victoria by The Toggery Shop, are the product of one of the older clothing firms of Canada and are made in Montreal by skilled operatives, each garment being hand-tailored.

The great factory of Society Brand Clothes Limited was built in 1914 and has been largely expanded in the intervening years.

The Society Brand specializes in clothes for men, made from the finest grades of imported Scottish and British goods, and has also developed a rapidly expanding market for the finer worsteds and tweeds of Canadian manufacture. Accessories to the attire of the well-dressed man handled by The Toggery Shop include the famous shirts and collars made by Cluett, Peabody and Company Limited in a model factory at Kitchener, Ont.

Pajamas, underwear and shirts made by J. Forsyth and Company Limited of Kitchener are also one of the lines which are featured by The Toggery Shop.

The Brock hat, manufactured in Brockville, Ont., by the Waltham Hat Corporation Limited, is also featured by The Toggery Shop, having been selected because of its reputation as a sterling product of Canadian craftsmanship.

The following English lines are carried: Welch, Margeson and Company's neckwear, shirts, etc.; Allen Solly's hosiery, sweaters, etc. and woolen goods produced by Wolsey Limited.

Hosiery manufactured in London, Ont., by the Holeproof Hosiery Company of Canada Limited is also one of the lines which are featured by The Toggery Shop. For some years the demand for this line of product has kept the London factory busy night and day.

Biltmore hats, made in Guelph, Ont., are one of the leading lines of headgear handled by The Toggery Shop, the experience of years having shown this line to be a creator of many friends for the firm.

CANADA SOON TO HAVE CHAIN OF NEW THEATRES

English Company Plans Construction of Million-dollar Theatre in Toronto

To Be Constructed on Old English Lines With Foyers For Afternoon Tea

Toronto, Jan. 10.—Toronto is to have a $1,000,000 theatre and office building. The site is said to be on Yonge Street, north of Dundas. The theatre will be the first of a Canadian chain of British picture playhouses and will mark the first step of the British film industry gaining a foothold in Canada. The plans are yet incomplete.

Introduction of these all-British theatres in the Dominion is being sponsored by the Gaumont British Film Company of London, England. They are capitalized at $100,000,000, and will have a chain of 350 theatres throughout the British possessions, which will have completely circled the Empire when the theatre links in Toronto and Canada will have been completed.

The theatre and building will be the first of its kind on this continent, said Edward Auger, Canadian representative of the Gaumont Company, who had just left for St. John, N.B., to open up offices there. "It is to be fashioned after the big houses in London, England," Mr. Auger said. "We shall have nothing to do with modernistic or futuristic fads in building, but in its place there will be a bit of real old English in the heart of Toronto and incidentally Canada."

Not shall we lack the English customs. During the afternoon matinees tea will be served to all patrons by the girls of the show. At the rear of the seating-house, which we hope shall be around 4,000 capacity, there will be a lobby or foyer where people may meet, have tea, smoke and continue to watch the interior and all furnishings will be fashioned after Old English style of architecture. On top of the theatre will be an office building. The cost will be $1,000,000 or perhaps a little more. Plans are just being completed, while the deal for the site is more than half the price at present.

British films have long tried to break into the Canadian market, pointed out Mr. Auger. They have met with little success. British pictures have been shown in the United States and Canada but have been sold through the United States and they have made the Canadian picture to see them. They obtained U.S. rights when buying the picture.

BRITISH PICTURES
Gaumont Company will not only show all-British pictures in their string of theatres but will also sell British pictures to the other theatres desirous of showing English pictures, continued Mr. Auger. "The United States will not have any rights over Canada. They will be able to buy, too, but Canada will have it at the same time. Up until the present it has been the United States that had the choice runs and this country came first after them. Toronto is the key city to Canada, and our headquarters will remain here. I am opening offices in several other large cities throughout the Dominion with the view to spreading the chain of theatres."

SOUTH AFRICAN THEATRES
The Gaumont British Film Company is at the same time building theatres in South Africa. The cities chosen there include Johannesburg, Capetown and Pretoria. Recently they bought out the Provincial Cinema Theatre chain in England, adding 190 more theatres to their large chain. The backers of the P.C.T. included Major Hold, son of Sir Herbert Holt, of the Royal Bank. Gaumont are backed by Oester Bros. prominent English bankers.

GREAT COMEDY TO SHOW AT COLUMBIA
REMAINDER OF WEEK

If life was made for laughter, whoever attends the Columbia Theatre while "The Cohens and Kellys in Paris," the Universal-William Beaudine production, is the feature, will live a complete life during the run of the picture.

"The Cohens and Kellys in Paris" is life jammed with wholesome human touches of pathos and comedy. It is a beautiful painting from the delicate brush of the great artist, William Beaudine, director of "Little Annie Rooney," "Sparrows" and "Hold That Lion."

Each member of the all-star cast is admirably chosen.

It is not a farce comedy, but it is drama of the relations between the Irishman and the Jew told with an eye always on the comic possibilities of the tale.

George Sidney, who was featured in the role of Cohen in the first "Cohens and Kellys," headlines in the screamingly funny adventures of the Irish and Jewish families in Paris. J. Farrell and MacDonald are co-featured as Kelly and gives an inimitable portrayal. Vera Gordon and Kate Price are back again in their original roles of Mrs. Cohen and Mrs. Kelly, louder and funnier than ever.

CAPITOL PICTURE IS STORY OF OFF STAGE LIVING

"Phyllis of the Follies," the bright sophisticated chorus-girl comedy which will open at the Capitol Theatre today, reveals the private life of a chorus girl—not when she is in the theatre dancing or in her dressing room—but when she has left the theatre behind to live her own life. For that reason the picture is both unusual and clever. The chorus girl mind is a thing distinct in itself and when it starts running amuck in drawing-rooms and hotels, there remain no alternatives but delightful mix-ups and pay comedy. In "Phyllis of the Follies" there is plenty of comedy and innumerable mix-ups.

Alice Day is delightful as Phyllis of the Follies. Matt Moore is equally so as the man who married a former Follies queen, said Follies queen being enacted with sophisticated charm by Lilyan Tashman. Edmund Burns is the handsomest young man who falls in love with Phyllis thinking she is married to Matt Moore. Duane Thompson is another Follies girl who takes Burns over the hurdles for $50,000, for alleged breach of promise. That's where the story starts. It proceeds rapidly through many comic situations to a smart denouement. On the stage at the Capitol Theatre for this week are Permane and Selley, comedy artists, Dany and Edith Carter, a clever comic-song and dance team, and Bobby Wurms, a comedy violinist.

DOROTHY RAYMOND IS POPULAR STAR
AT THE COLISEUM

With one of their finest productions since coming to Victoria, the Lee Jaxon Players are appearing this week at the Coliseum. There is a show entitled "Burning Up Broadway." Judging by the continued plaudits of the large audiences who have so far this week witnessed the clever little comedy, "Burning Up Broadway" is one of the most popular of the many plays presented by the Jaxon Company during their twenty-three week engagement at the Coliseum.

The play concerns a young man of New York, Broadway Jones by name. He is left a large chewing gum plant in the country by a wealthy uncle and makes a trip to the city to look things over. He plans on selling it for a few millions as the country is too quiet a place for him to live in. He is just about to sell the plant when the pretty young secretary of the firm urges upon him the necessity of retaining it in his possession. If he sells, she says, the hundreds of employees will be forced to seek new employment. The wealthy young owner immediately falls in love with her and accedes to her wishes. Miss Dorothy Raymond has the role of the secretary and Lee Jaxon is Broadway Jones. Miss Raymond gives a fine performance as the young woman and her lovely soprano is heard in that beautiful and popular melody, "Yesterday."

On the screen this week is a comedy picture entitled "Why Sailors Go Wrong."

STORY OF STREET
CARS NOW SHOWING
AT THE PLAYHOUSE

Hurting down hill in a runaway street car may bring many thrills to the spectators in a film theatre, but it is an experience that a certain trio of screen comedians will never recommend even to their worst enemies.

Cook and Demarest in "Pay as You Enter," now at the Playhouse Theatre here, the Warner Brothers comedy, are the crew of a street car, and rivals for the hand of Miss Fazenda. Director Lloyd Bacon thought it would be a good idea to have their street car run away while motorman and conductor staged a free-for-all fight in the aisle of the car.

Popular Actor Will Have
Leading Role in Great Film
Here Next Week

The acting of H. B. Warner in the title role of Cecil B. De Mille's "King of Kings" coming to the Royal Victoria Theatre on Monday next, has been deservedly compared with that of the famous Anton Lang, the peasant Christ actor of the Passion Play at Oberammergau. A bout Mr. Warner's portrayal, the well-known syndicate journalist and former Worcester pastor, Dr. Frank Crane, recently stated: "I cannot help but think that the millions who see this picture will come away with a truer and warmer idea of the Christ than they ever had before." Rudolph Schildkraut has the role of Caiaphas, the High Priest.

THRILLING FILM
ON MOVIE-TONE AT
DOMINION THEATRE

Cameras are called upon to perform many exciting stunts in making motion pictures but, according to Burton Steene, the most thrilling experience was that, when, from the "hombay" of a huge bomber, he filmed twelve full service charge aerial bombs as they were dropped on a reconstructed French village, all twelve direct hits. Steene performed this feat in the

"I believe I drew one of the most difficult assignments in the filming of 'Wings,'" says Steene. "I was hoisted and squeezed in the bomber compartment, containing 1,200 lbs. of T. N. T. I was in a space so small that I could scarcely move my legs in a kneeling position and I kept thinking what might happen if anything went wrong with those bombs or if we had to make a forced landing."
"A thin rope was fastened to my left arm and led to the cockpit where Capt. S. R. Stribling was in command. A signal of two sharp pulls was the word to tell me that the bombs would be released. I could not see what was coming, hence the signal, and naturally the scene would be a short one as the ship was doing ninety miles an hour.

"Capt. Stribling gave the two sharp tugs. Looking through the finder in my camera, it was my job to pick up the bombs as they fell. I could neither see nor hear them until they came into the finder."

BAKERS LOSE TO NAVY AND BAYS IN LEAD

ennies, Wednesday Soccer Champs, Suffer First Defeat of Season 3-0

ays Defeat Saanich United 3-3 and Take Lead; Brand of Soccer Poor

After having gone through early the whole season without tasting defeat, Rennie & Taylors yesterday went down before the superior combination of the Navy and the Bays in the Wednesday League soccer fixture at the Royal Athletic Park, when the sailors won 3-0.

The Hudson's Bays sent Saanich down to a 6-0 defeat, and thereby gained top berth in the league with a one-point margin over the Rennie's and the Navy, who are tied for second position.

DEFEAT A YEAR Yesterday's game marked the third time the bakers have suffered in two years.

Throughout the game the sailors had slight edge on play and proved better in the forward division. Both teams missed chances at open goals and several times threw away opportunities which, if either team had been in its regular form, would have resulted in a goal.

The two-week holiday lay-off proved disastrous to the team play of both sides, with the players showing only mediocre combination game at the end of the season.

Ten minutes after the commencement of the match, Cosier scored for the Navy when he netted the ball on a corner. The bakers came back from centre, but, although they pressed into the sailors' territory, were unable to score. Play saw-sawed from end to end, with the men in blue having a slight dominance over their opponents.

NEARLY SCORES Towards the end of the half, "Dutch" Davis, left wing for the bakers, sent across a fast drive from the wing which hit the inside of the goal post, but bounced out before it crossed the line. In the second half the bakers broke away from the centre and Groves, forward for the Rennie's, had a golden opportunity to put the ball into the goal, but sent it wide of the net.

The ball went back to the Rennie's end and Spriddell, of the Navy, broke through for what looked to be a sure counter, but again a wild shot sent the ball wide of the goal.

A forward rush staged by the bakers culminated in a high shot from Taylor which soared over the Navy goal.

Several more opportunities were passed up by both forwards before Hall took a rebound from Spriddell's drive, which Giddes had stretched along the ground to save, and tapped the ball into the corner of the net from close in. Another forward rush staged by the bakers was stopped when McIlroy intercepted a pass and kicked the ball to Groves. Groves passed to Taylor on the wing, who went down and shot wide.

FINAL GOAL Spriddell closed the scoring with a nice shot from a pass by Cosier. With the score 3-0 against them, the bakers made a final rally, but although they succeeded in forcing a corner and several times had shots at goal, the forwards could not find the net and were forced to leave the field without a score.

Newman, Tupman and Wright played well for the Rennie's, while Whyte, Spriddell and Cosier turned in good performances for the Navy.

Hewison refereed and the teams were: Navy—Zanelli, Whyte, Plummer, Roberts, Patterson, Pudford, Robinson, Spriddell, Hall and Cosier.

Rennie & Taylors—Geddes, Newman, Tupman, Wright, Stewart, Taylor, Groves, Nex, Purdy, McIlroy and Davies.

PLAYS WIN At Beacon Hill, the Bays outplayed Saanich to win by a 6-3 score in a more or less lopsided game.

Hansen opened the scoring for the winners when he netted the ball on a penalty kick and Fish added another goal with a clever shot shortly after.

Before the half ended, Campbell, of Saanich, gained a counter for his team with a long kick to make the score read 2-1.

At the opening of the second half, Fish and Cull ran in two more goals in rapid succession, and Kerpela scored the other two counters.

Saanich rallied toward the end of the game and Love broke down the defence to put the ball in the net. The final counter of the match was scored by Bradley, the United's right wing. McKay refereed and the teams were: Hudson's Bay—Clark, Gardner, Armstrong, Oakman, Woodley, Kirchin, Addie, Fish, Cull, Mair and Hansen. Saanich United—Tooby, P. Blanco, Ash, Love, Mair, D. Campbell, Stonier, Bundock, A. Blacio, Barry and Bradley.

HORSE RACING Tia Juana, Jan. 10.—It was a good multi-week programme and many more than usual availed themselves of the opportunity of visiting the oval. All of the day's races were of the claiming variety, and most of the victories were scored by good margins.

The opener, a five-furlong sprint, witnessed the favorite, "My Majesty," winning and paying good prices.

The race that had the place of honor was the fifth at the six-furlong mark. It was a purse for three-year-olds and saw Shasta Maple, a husky-looking brown colt owned by Mike Syfry, win in a gallop. Just getting up at the finish, Graceful and Scone took place and show from Brownbank, who had led most of the race. Brownbank co-favored with the winner, Shasta Maple scored just as decisively as did some of the long shots who romped home in other races.

Gifford Cochran, three-year-old filly, Guinea Hen, of Friar Rock lineage, won the race next of importance, for three-quarters of a mile. "Wes" Willie Kelsey took the victor out in front and never had to set Guinea Hen down in earnest, as the challenge of Ladentelle, the filly entry, was never serious enough to make Guinea Hen run herself out, even at the fast pace of 1:11 3-5 for the distance. The try of Ladentelle, however, was a game one. The whole of sportsmen's interest apparently wanted nothing else but Guinea Hen in the machines, as she went to the post at 1 to 5 in the mutuels.

Results follow: First race, five furlongs—1, Your Majesty, $16.40, $7.20, $5.40; 2, Chard, $5.40, $4.40; 3, Lady Royal, $5.00. Time: 1:01.

Second race, six furlongs—1, Coffield, $8.40, $3.80, $3.80; 2, Hominy, $5.40, $4.80; 3, Deadfall, $5.00. Time: 1:13 2-5.

Third race, mile and a sixteenth—1, Muriel H., $29.80, $9.00, $5.40; 2, Just Beau, $7.00, $4.20; 3, Quinine, $7.00. Time: 1:47 4-5.

Fourth race, five and a half furlongs—1, Red Pennant, $4.20, $3.00, $2.60; 2, Thistle Gold, $6.00, $5.20; 3, Walski, $5.20. Time: 1:07 1-5.

Fifth race, six furlongs—1, Shasta Maple, $2.20, $3.30, $3.80; 2, Graceful, $6.80, $4.00; 3, Scone, $3.00. Time: 1:12 1-5.

Sixth race, six furlongs—1, Guinea Hen, $3.00, $2.40, $2.20; 2, Ladentelle, $3.40, $2.50; 3, Arno, $3.00. Time: 1:11 3-5.

Seventh race, mile and a sixteenth—1, Worthman, $4.40, $3.20, $2.60; 2, Barrage, $14.00, $4.80; 3, Foolscap, $4.40. Time: 1:48 2-5.

Eighth race, mile and seventy yards—1, Tangram, $5.80, $3.60, $2.80; 2, Scotsman, $4.00, $2.60; 3, Bryndear, $3.20. Time: 1:43.

Wrigley Marathon Swim Will Not Be Held In Toronto

Toronto, Jan. 10.—The Toronto Star yesterday published the following notice regarding the Wrigley Marathon swim, according to present indications, may not be held in Toronto.

"But even if it is not a feature of the Canadian Exhibition in 1929, the Wrigley Marathon swim, according to present indications, may not be held in Toronto."

"It is known that William Wrigley Jr., the Chicago sportsman, who originated the marathon swim, does not like the idea of the big swim becoming tied up with any one city. Therefore, it would not be surprising to see the event go this year to some city in the United States or England, or even Australia."

AUSTRALIAN DEBATERS WHO WILL APPEAR HERE

These members of the Sydney, N.S.W., team will oppose G. A. Heben and T. Gough of this city in a debate at the Native Sons of Canada Hall, 751 View Street, on January 17. The subject of the debate will be, "Resolved That Compulsory Voting Would Be Desirable for Canada."

Mr. Goddall, the leader of the Union team, was born at Toowoomba, Queensland, 1903, and entered the university in 1922 from St. Ignace College, Riverview, where he captained the school team in the G.P.S. competition. He has always been prominent in university debating, and has been a member of the Union debates committee for five years. In 1926 and 1927 he represented the Union in the inter-university debates, on the latter occasion as leader. For two years he was editor of Blackacre, the magazine of the S.U. Law Society, and has contributed to Hermes and other university magazines. In 1926 he graduated as Bachelor of Arts and this year as Bachelor of Laws with honors. He will shortly be called to the bar.

Mr. Sheldon was born in 1905 and entered the university in 1923 from St. Ignace College, where he, too, in his year, captained the school team. He has for five years been a member of the Union debates committee, being honorary secretary in 1924 and 1925, and represented the Union in the inter-university debates of 1926 and 1927. In 1926 he graduated as Bachelor of Arts and proceeded to study law. In his first year at law he won the Wigram Allen scholarship for general proficiency and the Pitt Corbett prize for constitutional law, and in his second year shared the George and Matilda Harris scholarship. He, too, and the Nolan Foundation prize for political science. Mr. Nelson, born in 1905, went to the university in 1923 from the Sydney Grammar School, of which he had been a representative in the G.P.S. competition. He was a member of the winning St. Paul's College team in the intercollegiate competition, has represented the Union in various debates and has done a great deal of public speaking outside the university. He graduated as Bachelor of Laws this year and has been admitted as a solicitor of the Supreme Court.

Simple Services Mark Funeral of Rickard in New York

Thousands Attend at Madison Square Garden and Line Streets of City

New York, Jan. 10.—Tex Rickard was buried yesterday after funeral services in a crepe-draped Madison Square Garden, which he leaves behind as a monument to his vision. After brief and simple services, which were in marked contrast to the spectacular things in which the sports promoter dealt in life, his body was interred in a cemetery, where a wife and child rest.

A crowd of 10,000 sat in silence in the seats whose occupants in other days and nights have alternately cheered or hurled jeers and boos at referees and athletes.

The hush was profound as an organ played, a quartette sang and two clergymen and two laymen paid tribute to the memory of Rickard, "a man without measure in his heart."

ALL SPORTS REPRESENTED Every branch of sport was represented in the throng, and many who had no connection with athletics joined.

Available seats in the huge garden were filled when the doors were closed at 1:30 o'clock, after thousands had passed in double lines past the bier in a seemingly endless procession. Draped in black and purple mourning, the garden awaited the final passage from it of its builder, who no scrap was left of his body, save a few scraps of chairs, little craning of necks and virtually no exchange of whispers as an organ, installed for the funeral, boomed forth the stately notes of "Lead, Kindly Lights."

One thousand seats were set aside on the main floor for "friends." This space was dotted with boxers—friends indeed of the man they were honoring. Rev. Dr. George J. Moore, pastor of the Madison Avenue Baptist Church, started the service.

Rev. Dr. Moore closed with a brief eulogy in which he spoke of Rickard as a man without measure, "a counsellor without conceit." His final tribute was: "He had one of the world's great hearts."

"TAPS" IS SOUNDED "Taps" sounded and a band played Chopin's "Funeral March" as the great crowd stood with bowed heads. The person inside the garden remained until the body was removed, but another great body lined Fifth Avenue all the way to Fifth Avenue. As the fifty automobiles in the funeral procession moved up the avenue the streets were lined with other crowds.

At the cemetery the casket was opened again and members of the garden staff looked at their former chief for the last time. Mrs. Rickard was escorted by Jack Dempsey and Walter Fields to give a final eulogy and the casket was lowered into the earth.

Dr. Moore asked the pallbearers and others grouped about the grave to join in reciting the Lord's Prayer, and the last service for Tex Rickard was said.

JIM JEFFRIES His Own Story As Told to HUGH FULLERTON

CHAPTER XV (Continued) The joking got rougher and rougher, always with poor Ed Dunkhorst as the butt. One day Lou Houseman, then sporting editor of the Chicago Inter-Ocean and one of my best friends, came to visit the camp, and Dunkhorst started scolding him, charging him with nicknaming him The Human Freight Car.

Lou, of course, laughed and enjoyed it, but Dunkhorst was sulky and kept at him until I said: "Ed, Mr. Houseman is my guest and I don't want you to be arguing with him while he is here."

Dunkhorst promised, but every time he saw Lou he tried to renew the subject. It became monotonous and, one day while we were at luncheon, he tried to renew the quarrel.

"Ed," I interrupted, "you agreed not to say anything more to Mr. Houseman and promised to act like a gentleman." He hesitated, but started again in a few minutes, and I reached out, grabbed a hot-boiled potato and hit him right in the eye with it.

He jumped up yelling his eye was out, and a moment later he said: "That is a fine way to teach anyone to be a gent."

SCHOOL FOR GENTS The camp became known then as "The School for Gents." Ed was so mad he declared he would leave camp and, being broke, he telegraphed his manager in New York to send him money. The manager, being quite a joker, sent him twenty dollars—not enough for him to move. We did not want to lose him. Ryan came to me and said: "We don't want him to leave camp. We want to keep him here."

"All right," I said, "I'm sorry I hit him with the potato. But he has twenty dollars, which is enough for car fare if he leaves his baggage."

"Ed," I interrupted, "you agreed not to say anything more to Mr. Houseman and promised to act like a gentleman." He hesitated, but started again in a few minutes, and I reached out, grabbed a hot-boiled potato and hit him right in the eye with it.

He jumped up yelling his eye was out, and a moment later he said: "That is a fine way to teach anyone to be a gent."

SCHOOL FOR GENTS The camp became known then as "The School for Gents." Ed was so mad he declared he would leave camp and, being broke, he telegraphed his manager in New York to send him money. The manager, being quite a joker, sent him twenty dollars—not enough for him to move. We did not want to lose him. Ryan came to me and said: "We don't want him to leave camp. We want to keep him here."

"All right," I said, "I'm sorry I hit him with the potato. But he has twenty dollars, which is enough for car fare if he leaves his baggage."

"I'll fix that," said Ryan. He went out and told Dunk that I had apologized and begged him to stay and then inveigled him into a croquet game, offering to bet him five dollars a game. After the second game they got into an argument and yelled at me to come out and referee. Ryan had beaten him both games, and they were playing for ten dollars for the next one—which was all the money Dunkhorst had.

A GREAT GAME The game started, and after a time, Dunkhorst winked at me and kicked the ball in front of a wicket. Ryan saw the move and put the ball back and Ed moved it again.

"Say, you big Dutch bum," said Ryan, who was about his size, "if you move that ball again I'll hit you right on the end of that big nose of yours with this mallet."

Ryan was getting irritated, and although Dunkhorst weighed almost twice as much as he did, I knew he would make good his threat.

As Ryan started to make his shot, Dunkhorst moved the ball again. Ryan glanced up, saw the move, and hit Dunkhorst squarely on the end of the nose with it. Instead of fighting the big fellow grabbed his nose and yelled: "You broke my nose! You broke my nose!"

"How's that for timing a punch?" asked Ryan calmly. "If you'd let me use a mallet I could lick you any big guys."

We both apologized to Ed, and persuaded him not to leave camp. Knowing he could not get away anyhow, as Ryan had won his twenty dollars, the next day he was upstairs, sulking while he changed his clothes, and I was waiting downstairs for him. I called up: "Hurry up. Let's get to work."

"I'm getting cold standing around waiting for you."

"When I get down there you won't be so anxious," he called, and took his time about getting ready.

IN THE HUMOR He was in an ill humor when he put on the gloves and I winked at the fellows and said: "Boys, I'll give you an imitation of Fitz knocking Dunkhorst out."

"I saw he was working himself up and wanting revenge for the rough jokes, so as soon as we started to box I feigned a couple of times, then let my left go at his stomach and, as his head bobbed forward I brought it left up to his chin and knocked his 270 odd pounds clear across the ring, where he landed in a sitting position. Ryan was angry. He jumped in and commented to scold me for hitting Ed so hard. "You should talk," I said. "You hit him with a croquet mallet."

"Yes," said Tommy, "but you might have hurt your hand."

I remembered that scene when poor Dunkhorst fought Fitzsimmons. I must have been a prophet, for Fitz knocked him out in exactly the same way when they met.

HAD NOT TRAINED FAITHFULLY There is a difference in condition. I was in good physical shape for the Corbett match after that careless training period, but nothing like the shape I should have been in for an important battle. I did not regard Corbett as dangerous. I thought that the stories that he had been preparing in secret to recover his crown were not true, and besides had no idea he ever could bring himself back to a point where he would be anything like he was when he held the title. I knew I had not trained as faithfully as I should have done, but felt that Corbett would not knock me down or out even if I struck out my jaw.

I figured on knocking him out inside of ten rounds, and a lot of my friends were betting much money that he could not last that long. I thought when the day of the battle arrived that they were making a good bet.

"More Goals" Cry Of N.H.L. Fans

New York, Jan. 10.—That old hockey cry of "more goals" has broken out in New York with renewed force within the last few days, due to the almost goalless contests staged between two of the leagues' bitterest rivals, the New York Rangers and the New York Americans. These teams have clashed on three occasions this season and have recorded the grand total of three goals.

William Dwyer, owner of the Americans, announced yesterday that he would move at the next meeting of the National Hockey League for a change in the playing rules with a view to producing more scoring.

PATRICK AGAINST CHANGE On the other hand, Lester Patrick, manager of the Rangers, believes that the present rules do not need revision. He claims that his team has done a fair amount of scoring in the most of these games.

Tommy Gorman, manager of the Americans, advocated the adoption by the National Hockey League of the rules of the Ontario Hockey Association. He believes that would open up the game, while the fans would be treated to more spectacular hockey.

Schwartz-Belanger Bout Is Postponed Toronto, Jan. 10.—The bout between Izzy Schwartz and "Frenchy" Belanger, contenders for flyweight honors, scheduled for January 14, has been postponed indefinitely. It was announced last night. Belanger is ill with flu.

Taberski Reduces Lead of Seabach New York, Jan. 10.—Frank Taberski, world's pocket billiard champion, reduced the lead of Charles Seabach in their 750-point match by taking the fourth block last night, 196 to 113, after the Canadian champion had won the third 136 to 92.

Seabach now leads in total points by 502 to 347.

Births, Marriages, Deaths

BORN

ELSEY—To Mr. and Mrs. E. Elsey of 1059 Granville Street, a son, on Jan. 9, at Jubilee Hospital.

DIED

NOBLE—At the family residence, 2224 Hampshire Terrace, Tuesday night, the death occurred of Mrs. Sarah Ann Noble, widow of William Noble, aged eighty-five years. Mrs. Noble was born in Portsmouth, England, and had been a resident of Victoria for thirty-six years. She is survived by three sons, four daughters and one sister.

Funeral services by Rev. W. A. Guy will be held at the Sands Funeral Chapel on Friday at 2 o'clock. Interment will be made in the family plot in Ross Bay Cemetery.

CARD OF THANKS

The family of the late Miss Ann Haveron Irvine wish to thank their many friends for their expressions of sympathy and beautiful floral offerings sent during their recent bereavement. They also wish to thank the nurses of the Royal Jubilee Hospital for their kind attention during her last illness.

REFUELING IN AIR

First Picture of Question Mark and Army Aviators Who Made New Record for Sustained Flight

This remarkable photograph, taken from another plane, shows the big army transport Question Mark being re-fueled in mid-air during its attempt to set a world record for sustained flight as it flew between Los Angeles and San Diego, Calif. Gasoline and oil are transferred from the supply plane, flying above, by means of a long hose. Major Carl Spatz, commanding officer of the Question Mark, is directing the transfer at the lower end of the hose.

Here is the daring crew of the army transport Question Mark which set out to establish a new world record for sustained flight by refueling their ship in mid-air from a supply plane flying above. From left to right: Major Carl Spatz, commander of the ship; Captain Ira Ekker, Lieutenant H. A. Halverson, Lieutenant Elwood Quezada and Sergeant Roy Hooe. Designers equipped the big plane with narrow catwalks so Sergeant Hooe, the mechanic, could get out and make motor repairs during flight.

his father, Sir George Williams, at the jubilee of the United States branch of the organization in 1901.

Legion's Growth

Is Outlined By

B.C. Secretary

The steady growth of the Canadian Legion, B.C.L., was outlined by Robert Macnicol, secretary of the Provincial Command in a short address before the meeting of the Pro Patria Branch in the club rooms, 625 Courtney Street, last night. He pointed out there were 100 branches in British Columbia at present, and three applications had recently been received for additional charters.

Major Tweedie, zone representative for the Okanagan district, also attended the meeting.

Ten new members were installed. A

Annual Meeting

Annual Convention of Chevrolet Dealers' Association
Finishes in Vancouver

Vancouver, Jan. 10—A banquet last evening closed the most successful Chevrolet Dealer Convention ever held in Vancouver and provided the peak of enthusiasm for over 300 members of the British Columbia Chevrolet Dealer organization assembled at their annual gathering.

The meeting was opened at 9 o'clock yesterday morning at the Vancouver
Hotel with an address of welcome by Stan Parker, assistant regional manager, followed by Ross Mackinnon, general sales manager of Chevrolet.
In his message to the dealers he advised them to prepare this year for more substantial business, by giving more attention to their service facilities, equipment and mechanics; to continue an aggressive and intelligent policy of the sale of used cars, and to become better business managers.

CANADIAN CAR

"The New Chevrolet," said Mr. Mackinnon, "has a ninety per cent Canadian content and has the best body on the market. The objective is to make it a one hundred per cent Canadian car and this has been approached more nearly every year, the manufacture of engines in Canada being the recent big step in that direction." He went on to say that the Chevrolet sales objective for 1929 was 100,000 cars built in Canada for domestic and export sales and that the most rigid inspection would continue to be enforced on all cars produced in the Chevrolet factories in Canada.

Other speakers at the morning session were R. N. Gougeon, Western parts and service manager, V. Bailey, of the Chevrolet sales department, who spoke on the subject of used cars; F. B. Coate, general manager of Motor Accounting Company of Canada
Limited, a subsidiary of General Motors of Canada Limited; and E.
Wilson, of General Motors Acceptance Corporation.

SEE FILM FOR FIRST TIME

The afternoon session opened in the Vancouver Theatre with the premier showing of film entitled "With Chevrolet Across Canada." This picture is designed not only to show the service Chevrolet cars are giving throughout the Dominion, but to "sell" the dealer organization on the magnificent resources and opportunities in Canada.
Mr. Mackinnon is a firm believer in educational work of the nature. This film will soon be available for use in schools, also in Rotary, Kiwanis and other clubs.

Then the "Outstanding Chevrolet of Chevrolet History—a six in the price range of the four" was shown and received with great enthusiasm. J.
Umphrey, in charge of Chevrolet sales promotion, pointed out the features of this new "Six."

Other speakers in the afternoon were
R. McIsaac, of the Chevrolet sales department; W. C. Marshall, in charge of Chevrolet fleet and truck sales; A.
E. Jenner, assistant advertising manager of General Motors of Canada
Limited, and A. A. Ross, of Vancouver, regional sales manager. All speakers presented their subjects with the assistance of lantern slides.

STOCK MARKET — FINANCIAL NEWS — GRAIN MARKETS

TO-DAY'S GRAIN MARKETS

(By Branson, Brown & Co. Limited)
Winnipeg, Jan. 10.—Wheat: Wheat market decidedly strong again to-day, and after working 1/2 cent lower during the early part of the session, prices reacted and climbed about 1 cent over the previous close and held strong. The most of the strength was apparently coming from Chicago, where prices advanced more than 1 1/2 cents. The buying here was also largely by Chicago and New York interests, making local sentiment more bullish than ever.

Trade volume was large, offerings being fairly liberal on the scale up, while the pool were also credited, with selling a small volume of May at $1.23. However, the offerings were well taken. Export business was not so active, but much smaller than it has been any day this week, possibly 600,000 bushels, largely Manitoba.

It is believed here that New York speculative interests were taking hold of the grain markets to force prices higher, based on the statement that President-elect Hoover has a definite program for farm relief in the United States. There was further short covering to-day, but this is now believed to have pretty well run its course with a large long interest now existing. The strength in corn was also helping wheat. In the local cash demand there was a better demand for the low grades.

Coarse grains: Oats, barley and rye were all substantially higher and continue to follow the trend of wheat. The buying to-day was mostly of a speculative character, with the under-tone strong and a good foreign inquiry for barley and rye, although export business was slack.

Flax: This market was weak. No interest was shown by crushers who were out of the market, while there was some scattered liquidation.

VANCOUVER MINING MARKET

Vancouver, Jan. 10.—Big Missouri with several columns of sales between 77 cents and 105 and Silverado were the chief centres of interest in the Vancouver stock exchange transactions of Thursday forenoon.

Big Missouri, up to 1.09 in Toronto, came out here at 97 but was quickly carried up to the dollar mark, and then leaped up five points, despite temporary recessions due to profit-taking.

Silverado got up to the 115-116 level. Other lively sellers were Sunloch, Planet and Noble Five, these three having increased in value as the trading progressed.

Beaver Silver was also strong at 21. Woodbine was in demand around 5 in news of the strike.

The oils were headed by Home, which opened 3.40, on reports that drilling was progressing well into the time and the gas pressure was increasing.

Pend Oreille was rather weak opening at 10.50 and selling down to 10.25.

Revere-Macdonald started at 1.52 and sold up to 1.55 before the noon close.

Rufus was off a little, selling at 29.4 and 30, and Grandview, opening at 29.4, slipped to hold ground, slipping down to 28.4.

Under the day's leadership of Big Silverado and Silverado it was an interesting session for both bulls and bears. Both oils and mines are coming into extremely interesting situations for Spring trading.

THE OLD ORDER CHANGES

By DAVID LYALL

CHAPTER I

Mary Freeland looked round the little low rafted schoolhouse with a sigh, and the expression on her face was wistful.

She had been very happy in her work in Mardocks' school, and realized with a sharper pang than usual how she was going to miss it and the congenial routine, and the bright faces of the children when they brought their morning greetings often accompanied by little posies picked from garden or hedgerow, the outward and visible signs of the love they were to carry to their home at Basingfold and from her home at Basingfold had been a pleasure.

In three weeks' time, unless something unexpected should happen to prevent it, she would have to say goodbye to this epoch in her life, and remove herself to a very different environment. Mardocks was a typically English village, sleepy, remote, and almost feudal in its social conditions, having nothing whatever in common with its industrial neighbor three miles distant. Basingfold had waxed large and fat in the space of a few years, spreading itself on both banks of the Forder and shooting innumerable chimney stacks up towards the sky. Mary's people lived at Basingfold, where her father owned and worked a woollen mill. It had been a very small, unattractive concern in pre-war days, and no objection had been taken to Mary, the eldest of the family, going forth to earn her living.

Mardocks had been her first and only post, and was likely to be her last. Although nominally appointed by the Board of Managers she was under the complete sway of the Hon. Mrs. Manning, Lady of the Manor of Mardocks, who, early widowed and bereft of both her sons in the war, was a solitary and rather tragic figure at the Mardocks Hall, waiting the arrival of the new Squire, a distant kinsman, from South Africa.

Many generations of Egerton Mannings slept in the vaults under the pretty church, and some few who had loved the open and left specific directions had their graves on the grassy slopes of the churchyard, which was so exquisitely kept, with clipped hedges and shady walks that many travellers on the road made pause to admire it.

All the crosses were uniform, for Mrs. Manning exercised the strictest surveillance over the burials, and no one was allowed to erect a memorial which had not passed the bar of her judgment. The school was only separated from the church by a tall yew hedge, a small school-house adjoined, but not being required by Miss Freeland, was in occupation of William Miles, a retired butler from the manor house. Miss Freeland ate her midday meal, by arrangement with the Mileses, and found them very competent, obliging people.

There had been very few applicants for the post when it was vacant, or Mary Freeland would not have stood much chance, chiefly because there was a slight suspicion of dissent about her. Her father, a Scotsman, and originally a Presbyterian, attended St. Barnabas Church with his English wife, but that did not quite clear him of suspicion. Though appointed reluctantly, Mary Freeland had been a great success at Mardocks, pleasing even the Hon. Mrs. Manning. She had a wonderfully adaptive nature, and a strong sense of humor which enabled her to see the funny side of things in the feudal conditions among which she had to work.

Although respectful and courteous to Mrs. Manning, there was nothing cringing about her. In fact, on occasion, a certain sturdy quality of independence in her had somewhat surprised Mrs. Manning. She did not always respond to invitations to tea when she received them, and when she did accept comforted herself with an entire absence of nervousness, which seemed to suggest more equality than Mrs. Manning was prepared to admit. On the whole, however, the relations between them were quite amicable, and Mrs. Manning, in common with the whole village, deplored the fact of her resignation. Why, then, must this admirable arrangement which pleased everyone come to an end? The war was responsible for it. The Freelands had made money through it, and were taking an upward step in the social scale. They were removing in two months' time to another neighborhood to take up their abode in a dignified country house, more in keeping, presumably, with their ambitions. Mary was thinking with even greater distaste than usual of the proposed change as she looked up her registers and prepared to take her departure. As she rose from her desk the door opened and the quick and Canon Severn, the rector of the adjoining parish of Little Heath, also in the Manor of Mardocks, presented himself. His keen, high-bred, ascetic face brightened at sight of her.

"I was afraid you might have gone, Miss Freeland," he observed, as he closed the door and advanced towards her, holding out his hand. Only indifferent health had hurried a man of his age to the country. He had had a great parish in a busy northern town, where the strain had caused a breakdown and he had been warned by his medical advisers that his only chance of recovery was to bury himself in the depths of the country for a few years. The prescription had acted marvellously; his health was completely restored, and he had enjoyed the retirement which had enabled him to write a book he had had long in contemplation. Mary liked him very much, and he had been a good friend to her in school affairs, standing by her when she wanted to oppose Mrs. Manning's ordination concerning school matters. A bachelor by choice, and a celibate from conviction, Canon Severn had, since coming to the neighborhood, been visited for the first time by some doubts as to the wisdom of his choice. There was something very human, womanly and attractive about the schoolmistress, and her sense of humor was like a gleam of sunshine in a sad world. He had never come into the school without being cheered and uplifted. As he saw her face that afternoon with its winsome smile, the prospect of seeing it no more suddenly smote him with a sense of personal loss equal to a blow.

He observed the dainty neatness of her attire, the feet shod in grey suede corresponding to the color of her gown, the mauve ribbon on her shady hat, even the sheen of the hair under its brim. And he found the vision good. Mary, though wondering a little at the intensity of his gaze, continued to smile.

"I was just going; I never am in a hurry these days. There are not so many now until I see this dear place no more."

"The Canon did not seek to hide his dismay."

"Oh, come, Miss Freeland, never is a long while! Even if you persist in your determination to leave us, surely you will sometimes return to the scene of your happy endeavors."

It was a formal speech, but it rang true, and brought a stinging moisture to the eyes of the schoolmistress.

"I am sure revisiting is a mistake, and it would tell me with unbroken rage to see anybody else in my place here, so I won't come, thank you very much."

"If you feel it so keenly, why leave us?" asked the Canon bluntly. "It will be bad news for the entire village. Have you told the children?"

"No, and I'm not going to. I couldn't bear it at all, not that, and as the holidays intervene, they will have had time to forget me."

"Impossible!" murmured the Canon emphatically.

"I wish I could think so, but there are no very long memories, even in Mardocks."

"Your decision is quite irrevocable, then? I am on my way to take tea with Mrs. Manning now. Can I take a gleam of hope with me to her? It would make her happy, I'm sure."

Mary shook her head.

"If it were only my decision it would never have been taken. But you see, my people are leaving Basingfold. I think I told you that."

"You did, without mentioning their destination."

What pleasure little Clowdy had. Said he, "Well, I am sure glad that all the rest are sound asleep, and we are here alone. There's no one else to dance with you, so all the dancing I can do." And thus they went on dancing to the organ's pretty tune.

It wasn't very long until the wee dwarf said, "I've had my fill of playing on this organ. Gee, my arms are all tired out. I cannot turn the crank much more. I think I'll go to sleep and dream." That he was mighty sleepy there was very little doubt.

"All right," said Clowdy, "Go ahead and rest your little sleepy head. We thank you very much for all the lovely tunes you've played. When you wake up, please wake the bunch. They'll all get up, I have a hunch, 'cause they will want to play some more." So off the wee dwarf strayed.

When Clowdy and the others came, another dwarf said, "There's a game that all of you will quite enjoy. Come on, and follow me." "You bet," cried Clowdy. "I'm no dunce, and I'll try any real fun once. I hope it is some thrilling sport that we are going to do."

The dwarf soon led them up a lane. They found their trip was not in vain. A little nook, "Here's where we stop," the queer dwarf cried. "If all of you would like to slide, this is a dandy sliding place." And Clowdy said, "Oh, look!"

They spied a chutes that circled round and led for down toward the ground. "Hop on," exclaimed the little dwarf, "and I will push each one."

"Course very little time was spent in hopping on, and down the slides they slid along real fast, he shouted, "This is fun."

Uncle Wiggily's Chocolate Cake

Copyright, 1929, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate

By HOWARD R. GARIS

"Are you coming to my party?" asked Lulu Wigglesworth, the funny girl, as she waddled up the front steps of Uncle Wiggily's bungalow one morning before school.

"Your party?" cried Uncle Wiggily, who was getting ready to go out and look for an adventure. "I didn't know you were going to have a party, Lulu. It's very kind of you to ask me. Of course I'll come! When is it?"

"To-night," quipped the girl duck. "It's a surprise party."

"A surprise party?" exclaimed Uncle Wiggily with a laugh. "I hardly think it can be that, Lulu. You see, when you have a surprise party the one for whom it is given must be surprised. That is, they must not know anything about the party until they get to it and everyone calls out: 'Surprise on Lulu!' or something like that. So I think your party isn't going to be a surprise one."

"Oh, yes it is!" quipped Lulu, who seemed quite certain.

"Who is the surprise for?" asked Uncle Wiggily. "It can't be for you, because you already know about it."

"Oh, no, I'm not surprised!" laughed Lulu. "But you were surprised when

"I'll be there," promised Mr. Longears.

I asked if you were coming to my party, weren't you, Uncle Wiggily?"

"Of course I was, Lulu. It was a great surprise to me."

"Then we'll call it your surprise party!" quipped Lulu as she ran on to school, so she wouldn't be late. "Be sure to be there, Uncle Wiggily. Don't forget my party!"

"I'll be there," promised Mr. Longears, and then, instead of going out to school, he hopped back into the kitchen where Nurse Jane was giving the dishes their bath.

"Well, what is it now, Uncle Wiggily?" asked the kitchen lady-housekeeper. "If you want to make another ice pudding, you just can't! That's all about it."

"Or, but—Jane! I don't want to make an ice pudding," said Uncle Wiggily kindly and with a reproachful manner. "I want to make a chocolate cake this time."

"I don't want any chocolate cake!" said Miss Fussy Wuzzey.

"No, perhaps you don't," spoke Mr. Longears, "but I'm going to make one and it will be a surprise for Lulu, and the rabbit gentleman took off his glasses and rubbed them on his necktie to make them clear so he could see better to make the chocolate cake."

"What do you mean—a surprise for Lulu?" asked Nurse Jane.

"Why," explained Uncle Wiggily, "that poor little duck is getting up a surprise party, but she can't be surprised, for she knows all about it. Though it will be a surprise when she takes me in and helps me to mix the chocolate cake and take it to her, then she would be surprised, wouldn't she?"

"Very much surprised indeed," laughed Nurse Jane, "if you could bake a chocolate cake that would be any good. You don't know how."

"Oh, don't you?" cried Uncle Wiggily. "Well, if you'll just get out the flour and eggs and baking powder and lard and mix them up for me into a cake I'll open the oven door so it will bake as nicely as you please."

"Hah! Hah!" laughed Nurse Jane. "What's the matter?" asked Uncle Wiggily.

"The idea of putting mustard in chocolate cake!" cried Nurse Jane.

"Oh, well! I'm not fussy about a little like mustard," said Mr. Longears. "Leave it out if you like. Come on, Jane!" and he twinkled his pink nose so sweetly that the kitchen lady gave in and helped him mix the chocolate cake and then he opened the stove door for her.

"Talk about your making a chocolate cake!" laughed Nurse Jane. "You were all alone. 'Seems to me I did all the work.'"

"Well, I thought of it," said Uncle Wiggily proudly. "Angrily can mix up sugar and milk and flour and baking powder and mustard—no, I forgot—we won't put any mustard in. Well, anybody can mix up those things if they have 'em. But it takes a smart rabbit to think of making a chocolate cake to give a surprise to a little Wigglesworth duck girl who is going to have a party."

"Oh, hop along with you!" laughed Nurse Jane. "You always get the better of me somehow or other. Take the cake!"

So Uncle Wiggily took the cake, wrapped in a clean napkin, and along

Solution of Yesterday's Puzzle

To-morrow's Horoscope

Planetary influences of much power are strong to-day, according to astrology, which reads that the morning hours should be especially auspicious for industry.

The lunation of this date indicates that unusual activity will mark the building trades, it is announced.
A favorable sign is subject to stimulating influences that promise relief from handicaps and increase in profits.
Trouble over competition between motor transports and the railways is foretold by astrologers.

The opposition of Saturn and Mars is interpreted as promising serious international problems abroad, involving Germany, Poland, France and the Balkans.
For months astrologers have warned of epidemic in all parts of the world that will make the winter a time of anxiety and trial. They declare that pulmonary ills will multiply from this time on.

St. Louis, Memphis and New Orleans should be especially careful to observe sanitary precautions and to provide for care of the ill who suffer from colds.
In contrast to the darker predictions are many that promise music to the people of the United States. There will be an art awakening of such wide interest that it will embrace the entire country.

Music will be more and more appreciated. It is prophesied, and really great American artists will multiply.
In art the extreme modern influences will be modified and once more there will be a striving to present the beautiful instead of what is repulsive or freakish, astrologers foretell.
Persons whose birthdate it is have the auspice of a successful year in finance and business. New channels of activity probably will open to men and women, but they should be careful in investing their money.

Children born on this day probably will be ambitious and able to attain high ideals. These subjects of Capricorn usually like what is novel or unusual. Many lawyers are born under this sign.

ELLA CINDERS—Some New Things

Ella on a spending spree — the owner of the show insists that she live up to her position as a jollies star.

Now THIS IS REALLY DREAM!

YES, BUT THE DRESSMAKER WORE UP TOO SOON! IF BREVITY'S THE SOUL OF WIT, THIS DRESS IS VERY WITTY!

BECOMING MORE EXPENSIVE, I SUPPOSE! WOMEN USED TO CRY BECAUSE THEY HAD VERY FEW CLOTHES, BUT NOW THEY BOAST ABOUT IT!

THAT'S BECOMING!

YOU'LL TAKE THESE, TOO, WON'T YOU?

OH, I NEVER WEAR THAT KIND OF ER—SLEEPING GARMENT! I PREFER WARM ONES!

SAY, DO YOU THINK IT WOULD BE A GOOD AD FOR MY SHOW IF YOUR APARTMENT CAUGHT FIRE AND PEOPLE SAW ELLA CINDERS, THE JOLLIES STAR, RUNNING AROUND IN FIVE YARDS OF FLANNEL?

Ella's spending until it hurts—and a lot more to go yet!

MUTT AND JEFF—Ima Mutt Is a Hot Sport

MUTT, I'LL TAKE BACK ALL THE NASTY THINGS I'VE SAID ABOUT YOUR BROTHER, IMA. THIS SWELL DINNER HE'S GIVING AT THE RITZMORE AT EIGHT BELLS TONIGHT FOR MAB, BETTY AND EUNICE AND ME AND YOU, WILL SET HIM BACK SIXTY BUCKS WITHOUT THE TIP. HE'S A REAL SPORT, KID!

SURE, I KEPT TELLING YOU THAT YOU HAD HIM ALL WRONG!

THIS IS THE DUMP WHERE THEY SOCK YOU FOUR BITS FOR A CUP OF COFFEE!

YES, GENTLE READER, THIS IS IMA MUTT

WAITER, I'M IMA MUTT. HERE'S A FROGSKIN FOR YOU!

THANK YOU, SIR. I FANCY YOU WANT ME TO RESERVE A TABLE FOR YOU, SIR?

NIX! I'LL BE IN HERE AT EIGHT BELLS WITH THREE SKIRTS AND MY BROTHER AND JEFF, AND I WANT YOU TO TELL ME ALL THE TABLES ARE ENGAGED! SAVVY?
